Goes Like Hot Cakes.

"The fastest selling article I have in my store," writes druggist C. T. Smith of Davis, Ky., "Is Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, because it always cures. In my six years of sales it has never failed. I have known it to save sufferers from Throat and Lung diseases, who could get no help from doctors or any other remedy. Mothers rely on it, best physicians prescribe it, and John E. Daly guarantees satisfaction or refund price. Trial bottle free. Reg. sizes, 50c and $1.

"A dose in time saves lives." Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, nature's remedy for coughs, colds, pulmonary diseases of every sort.

MAINE'S VETERAN HUNTER.

Began Trapping at Eight Years, and is Now Eighty-four.

The town of Bingham is the home of Nathan B. Moore, undoubtedly the oldest guide in Maine. Mr. Moore is 84 years of age, erect of figure, and still able to stand his share of a tramp through the woods. He estimates his record of big game killed at 276 moose, 200 caribou, 100 bear and many deer. At 8 years of age he began trapping and he has followed it every season since.

"My father," he says, "was the ferry man at the time, and he gave me two small steel traps which I set near the ferry at a point where muskrats and mink were plenty, and this my first sport, met with good success. I was so small that I could not spring the trap alone, and I had to take the animal caught to my father, who removed them and reset the traps. The money secured from these skins was the first I ever earned. Before long, however, I was able to look after the traps myself, and from that time on I took many fur-bearing animals each season. As I became older I had a gun and hunted small game and killed many partridges, which were eaten at our table.

"At fourteen years of age I killed my first moose, a large bull, and soon after that my career as a trapper and hunter began, and I have devoted most of my time to it since.

"When I started out in life I determined that I would always tell the truth, never drink spirits or use tobacco. "Moose and caribou were very plentiful about here in those days and I killed many of them, taking the meat down the river and selling it, often realizing $100 for a moose and nearly as much for a caribou, besides having the hides, tallow and shanks left for my own use.

"I ran down on snowshoes most of the 276 moose I killed, and I think that I must have found some of the smartest moose in the woods in the number, but I never got found one that I could not catch the first time. I started him in the morning under favorable conditions, and without the help of either man or dog. Some would run five, some ten, and a few twenty miles, but I was always sure of them sooner or later." Bangor (Me.) Commercial.

On the Verge of Bright's Disease.

A Quick Cure that Lasted.

CASE NO. 30,611.—C. E. Boies, dealer in grain and feed, 505 South Water Street, Akron, O., made the following statement in 1896, he said: "Ever since the Civil War I have had attacks of kidney and bladder trouble, decidedly worse during the last two or three years. Although I consulted physicians, some of whom told me I was verging on Bright's disease, and I was continually using standard remedies, the excruciating aching just across the kidneys, which radiated to the shoulder blades, still existed. As might be expected when my kidneys were in a disturbed condition, there was a distressing and inconvenient difficulty with the action of the kidney secretions. A box of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Lamparter & Co.'s drug store, brought such a decided change within a week that I continued the treatment. The last attack, and it was particularly aggravated, disappeared."

Three Years After.

Mr. Boies says in 1899: "In the spring of 1899 I made a public statement of my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills. This remedy cured me of a terrible aching in the kidneys, in the small of my back, in the muscles of the shoulder blades, and in the limbs. During the years that have gone by I can conscientiously say there have been no recurrences of my old trouble. My confidence in Doan's Kidney Pills is stronger than ever, not only from my personal experience but from the experience of many others in Akron which have come to my notice."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Boies will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address: Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists, price 50 cents per box.

Paper as Fuel.

In these days of scarcity of fuel it may be interesting to know how one thrifty housekeeper, with more leisure than money, has warmed her house for years during the two weeks or so in the fall and spring when heat is needed in the morning and evening only. She uses old newspapers and prepares them for combustion by twisting them into fagots. For the furnace she tears the paper in half, doubles each half together and twists it tightly. For the fireplace heater she separates the sheets, crumples each together and finishes by giving a slight twist, while for the small stove in her sewing room, or for a grate that is sometimes used in a north room, she merely gives the paper a close crumple. She finds it better to prepare the fuel pretty near the time of using it, as it burns better if it has not been allowed to gather dampness. This fuel is prepared at odd times, usually at dusk, by the mistress and her children, and is kept in huge bags made of castoff garments, and these form measures for the amounts needed.

Deaths in France Exceed Births.

The latest statistics compiled for France are for the year 1900, and these show that for the fourth time in eleven years the number of deaths exceeded the births.

The squirrel clutched up a tree. And hoarded there a dainty store. And he will feast with (plaid) glove. When fruit and sunshine are no more. He doth not talk in tones of grief. With friends about the price of beef.

The polar bear through Arctic snow. His way doth all serenely track. Because his overcoat, you know, Is growing safely on his back. He never has to fret his soul. With guessing at the price of coal.

But a tipped featherless. Must labor with these problems dire. And struggle 'gainst the weather's stress. While others peacefully retire. Oh, were it not a fate more fair. To be a squirrel or a bear?

—Washington Star.

THE CLUE THAT FAILED.

Deductions in the manner of Sherlock Holmes do not always work out successfully, as is shown by the following story. A group of reporters were talking together, and one of them, who liked to play the amateur detective, devoted part of his time to watching a man standing some distance away.

"That man used to be in the army," he said.

"How do you know?"

"See how he puts his hand into his trousers pocket. He lifts up the side of his coat—look, he's doing it now—instead of pushing the coat back as we do. He acquired the habit from wearing a fatigue coat in the army. A fatigue coat, you know, is cut square about the body. To put the hand in the trousers pocket, one must lift up the side."

Some discussion followed, with the result that one of the reporters volunteered to lay their speculations before the stranger. He proved to be a wealthy real estate dealer. After listening to the reporter's explanation, he replied, with much amusement:

"I'll tell you why I put my hand in my pocket that way. I used to be a butcher in New York, thirty years ago, and I got that habit raising my butcher's apron to make change."

McPartich—Mon, it's awful! McOats yonder's guest clean daff; I saw him a'n' ain't e'en giv' away a saxeprice too a beggar man.

MacMeal—He gox! He's no daff; he's followin' the evil, eneequitos example set up by Carnegie o' Skibo. What's becomin' o' Bonnie Scotland at a, at a?—Tie-Bits.

WHEN IN DOUBT, ETC.

Bishop Brewster of Connecticut tells this story illustrative of his wife's cleverness. One day they visited a mission school, and in kindly catching the children he asked:

"Who is your neighbor?"

A dead silence followed the question. Finally one little girl raised her hand and made the most unexpected and amusing reply, "God."

On the way home the bishop said to his wife:

"Now, what do you suppose that child had in mind to give such an answer?"

"I suppose," replied Mrs. Brewster, "that she was following that rule of a great many older people, 'when in doubt play trumps.'"

An amusing story is told of a man condemned to death recently in France who was asked, according to custom, what he would prefer for his last meal. He chose mussels, which, though his favorite dish, always, he said, caused him a terrible indigestion. "This time, however," he added grimly, "they will not have the chance."

A WAITING WAITER.

At Montreal recently a police court magistrate asked a prisoner what he was doing at the time of his arrest.

"I was waiting," said the accused.

"Waiting for whom?" asked the magistrate.

"Just waiting," came the reply.

"What were you waiting for?"

"For my money."

"Who from?"

"The man I was waiting for."

"What did he owe you for?"

"For waiting."

"I do not understand," said the perplexed magistrate. "Explain yourself."

"I thought," said the prisoner, "you know I was a waiter in a restaurant."—London Leader.

A WEIGHTY QUESTION.

She had decided to go to a fancy-dress ball. "What shall I go as?" she queried, as she turned over a book containing illustrations of all the latest carnival costumes.

"I'm sure I don't know," he grunted.

"I have almost decided to go as Helen of Troy. Do you think it would suit me?"

"Well," murmured her husband, as weights and measures confused his brains and as he gazed at her ample proportions, "I think you would be better as Helen of Avoirdupois!"—New York News.

GREW INTO A CAT.

"What became of that little kitten you had here?" asked a lady visitor of the small girl.

"Why, haven't you heard?"

"No, was it drowned?"

"Lost?"

"No."

"Poisoned?"

"No."

"Then whatever did become of it?" said the lady.

"It grew up into a cat," was her reply. —Little Chronicle.

A HIGH-BORN LADY.

This death announcement appeared in the South Australian Advertiser: "On the 26th June, at Black Oak Farm, Kadamba, Edith, the noble wife of — and mother of four sons and one daughter. In her love took the harp of life, snatched the chord of self, which passed out of sight. The angels, not so happy as us, carried her and now, and that is why her high-born kinsman came and took her away and shut her up in a sepulchre. West Australian papers please copy."—London Express.

APOSTLES OF EATING LESS.

Food Faddists Have Had a Great Year for Their Theories.

It has been a fine year for the increasing thousands who have fads about their food. The high prices of almost everything in the market have given the opportunity. The advocates of no breakfast, of meat once a day, of no meat at all, of certain kinds of vegetables, of no kinds of vegetables, of nuts only, of the absolute avoidance of nuts, of raw fruit, of fruit only when cooked, of neither coffee nor tea nor saffrafs, and of all the other things, or of any part of things, or of no things at all, have come forth, not singly, but in battalions, and have told us how to live to be a hundred—if we don't die.

It would be gross ingratitude not to be thankful to these advisers. They are sincere. They want to do good. They give their lives for the benefit of others. They are sad to think of ignorant thousands going to early graves on full stomachs. They raise their warning voices against satiety. People should stop eating before they get enough. The old saying about losing what is left on plates finds no echo in their doctrines. Eating for the sake of eating is a sin. Eating all the things that are offered is wickedness. So they find something bad in every number of the bill of fare—from typhoid fever in raw oysters to dyspepsia and indigestion in pie.

They have a right to their convictions. A man down in Virginia went without food for thirty days this year. But like as not he doubled the price of his board for the next month. People use the starvation plan for many ailments. Many of them go to health resorts and pay $50 to the hotel doctor, who strikes off from the bill of fare all the good things they would like to eat. The hotels get their savings, the doctor gets his big fees and they get—hunger. But most of the faddists have their imaginations in their culinary departments, and it is not reasonable of them to expect the robust members of society to follow their examples. It may be wrong, but the average American wants breakfast. It may hurt him, but he will have meat. He may be jeopardizing his very soul, but he likes to play with the meat all the way from soup to satisfaction. And somehow it agrees with him. Look at the other nations. We don't know of any that hunt him when the food or the fuel within him works its way to results in the progress and civilization of mankind. —Saturday Evening Post.

Helped Everybody.

Gainesville, Texas, Oct. 27.—Mrs. L. E. Burton, formerly of Eureka, Kan., has been at 507 Gladstone street, this city, for some time. While here Mrs. Burton has been the means of doing much good by introducing to her sick friends a remedy which it seems is very popular in Kansas, but which has not been very much heard of in this neighborhood. It is called Dodd's Kidney Pills and in every case where it has been used it has produced wonderful results.

Mrs. Burton has good reason to speak well of Dodd's Kidney Pills, for they have done much for her and her family. She says: "I must tell everybody what Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for me and for as many of my friends as have used them."

"I had a very bad case of Kidney Trouble, for which I had been doctoring for a long time without benefit. I saw Dodd's Kidney Pills recommended. I tried them and was completely cured. My mother and my brother were ill and they took them and were soon well again."

"Dodd's Kidney Pills have done much for us."

GOVERNOR OF OREGON

Uses Pe-ru-na in His Family For Colds and Grip.

CAPITOL BUILDING, SALEM, OREGON.

A Letter From the Executive Office of Oregon.

Pe-ru-na is known from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Letters of congratulation and commendation testifying to the merits of Pe-ru-na as a cathartic remedy are pouring in from every State in the Union. Dr. Hartman is receiving hundreds of such letters daily. All classes write these letters, from the highest to the lowest.

The outdoor laborer, the indoor artisan, the clerk, the editor, the statesman, the preacher—all agree that Pe-ru-na is the cathartic remedy of the age. The stage and rostrum, recognizing cathartics as their greatest enemy, are especially enthusiastic in their praise and testimony.

Any man who wishes perfect health must be entirely free from cathartics. Cathartics are well-known; almost omnipotent. Pe-ru-na is the only absolute safeguard known. A cold is the beginning of cathartics. To prevent colds, to cure colds, is to cheat cathartics out of its victims. Pe-ru-na not only cures cathartics, but prevents. Every household should be supplied with this great remedy for colds, coughs, and so forth.

The Governor of Oregon is an ardent admirer of Pe-ru-na. He keeps it continually in the house. In a recent letter to Dr. Hartman he says:

STATE OF OREGON,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SALEM, May 9, 1898.

The Pe-ru-na Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio:

Dear Sirs—I have had occasion to use your Pe-ru-na medicine in my family for colds, and it proved to be an excellent remedy. I have not had occasion to use it for other ailments.

Yours very truly,
W. M. Lord.

It will be noticed that the Governor says he has not had occasion to use Pe-ru-na for other ailments. The reason for this is, most other ailments begin with a cold. Using Pe-ru-na to promptly cure colds, he protects his family against other ailments. This is exactly what every other family in the United States should do. Keep Pe-ru-na in the house. Use it for colds, coughs, jaundice, and other climatic affections of winter, and there will be no other ailments in the house. Such families should provide themselves with a copy of Dr. Hartman's free book, entitled "Winter Cathartics." Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio.

Michael Vincent, the democratic nominee for sheriff, is probably one of the best known men in the county today. His fitness for the office of sheriff is admitted by all who know him and who were thrown in contact with him while he was in the office. He has a natural faculty for ferreting out crime and tracing criminals, and as a consequence he has been called on several times when not in office to assist the officers in this work. His ability in this line is what made him such an efficient officer, and when once he got on the track of a criminal the guilty party knew no peace until he was captured.

At a speech Governor LaFollette was making at Oconto on Monday a man in the audience tried to question him again on how he stood on the matter of Senator Spooner, but the governor was hurried from the stage before he could answer the questions. As a consequence of the attitude the governor has taken on this matter several speakers who were billed for speeches in that county have cancelled their engagements and stated that they will have nothing further to do with the campaign.

Governor LaFollette stated in Appleton on Saturday that he would support Spooner when Spooner came out and endorsed the republican state platform. This is rather rubbing it in on the worthy senator. He had evidently buried the hatchet and was willing to let on he had swallowed the platform, even if he hadn't, and the governor should have governed himself accordingly. It is quite evident, however, that there is only one way of doing things in the governor's opinion, and that is LaFollette's way.

LaFollette promises that if the republicans are elected there will be a reform in the trusts, tariff and taxes. That is just what the republicans have been telling us for the past ten years and notwithstanding the fact that they have been in power there has been no reform excepting those that have benefitted the trusts and monied men in general.

It is evident from the attitude that Governor LaFollette has taken toward Senator Spooner that he intends to make that gentleman come to time if he wants to ride on the same band wagon with the governor. Of course the governor is doing all these things for the good of the party, the LaFollette branch of it especially.

Husband and Wife Disagree.

Husband and wife often disagree about some matter that concerns each other and frequently the husband finds that his wife's judgment is the best, the case of Mr. John W. Young of Lincoln, Ill., is however an exception, he says: "My wife and I both had a severe cold and we decided to get some kind of medicine. I bought for myself a bottle of Hart's Honey and Horchond and taking it as directed was well in a short time. She wanted another kind and with the result that she still has a bad cough. I advised her to take Hart's Honey and Horchond and think she will have to do so if she gets well this winter." Sold by Sam Church druggist.

His Life in Peril.

"I just seemed to have gone all to pieces," writes Alfred Dee, of Welfare, Tex., "biliousness and a lame back had made life a burden. I couldn't eat or sleep and felt almost too worn out to work when I began to use Electric Bitters, but they worked wonders. Now I sleep like a top, can eat anything, have gained in strength and enjoy hard work." They give vigor and health and new life to weak, sickly, run-down people. Try them, only get at John E. Day's Great Remedy.

THINGS OF INTEREST.

Listed my friends, and I will relate.
The political tide of the Budget states.
And events which have come to pass of late.
All fraught with things of interest.

Governor LaFollette called "Little Bob."
Found his position a paying job.
He had a few things to conceal from the mob,
And those are items of interest.

There was the double taxation bill,
Of which the people had their fill,
And owed the Governor no good-will.
That is item "One" of interest.

There was a charge at LaFollette's door,
That his expense was a million more,
Than the administration had cost before;
List! Tis an item of interest.

There was the "school scandal," as you well know,
LaFollette received Two Thousand or so,
On the condition that Harvey must go;
But that was the Governor's interest.

There's "Vessel Taxation" and "Railroad Rate"
They do not form a tempting bait;
The very words the man must hate,
For they are not to the Governor's interest.

This man, who has not ruled "true blue,"
Gleef the republicans clean if two,
The "Stalwarts" and the "Halfbreeds" grew;
And this was not to his interest.

Yet he is the republican candidate,
Who does his energies concentrate,
In making promises (now too late)
Intending to stir up interest.

Voters, your taxes he has not relieved;
And tho' LaFollette you once believed,
Don't trust the man who has oft deceived.
He's not working for your interests.

His unkept pledges are plain to see;
Don't sell your vote for a promise fee,
Tho' a game warden you may be,
It should be to the Governor's interest.

Now this is the Land of Liberty,
From oppression the people must be free,
Add the mortgaged land owner shall not be Burdened with heavy interest.

And the democratic party is not dead,
It has taken a notion into its head,
That wholesale bribery shall not spread,
And they bring forth things of interest.

It does not like "Boss" LaFollette's bill,
The "Primary Election Law" sounds ill
To right minded men, who never will Sacrifice the people's interests.

Now the nominee is David S. Rose,
A popular man, as everyone knows,
Who in the people's favor daily grows,
And he is the item of interest.

This candidate is a flower in name,
Both just and great, I sing his fame;
And as your governor would be the same,
For he will look to your interests.

David S. Rose is the poor man's friend;
To economy his aid will lend
And about their business game wardens send,
For they cost both capital and interest.

For good sound principle he makes a run,
Favoring corporations shall not be done;
Equal taxation for every one,
For that's to the people's interests.

Of the largest city in our state
He is the mayor, and to this date
Prosperity and economy are concentrate,
Pray investigate, 'twill be of interest.

LaFollette his sacred trust did betray,
The republican party sorely day.
Behold! Their idol was made of clay,
For he had individual interests.

This self same little man has his price,
Five hundred dollars did not suffice,
But of higher bids—Ah! He thinks twice,
For his pocketbook is of interest.

The state capitol has increased its employees,
There's oil inspectors, sub-treasury agencies,
Supervisors—of assessments and factories.
E'en "squirrel feeders" are of interest.

Now I agree with good Neal Brown,
It's a fine thing Kronshage is around,
To bear the blame some one is found,
Lo! 'Tis LaFollette's interest.

As the Governor travels on his campaign,
There's many items he don't explain;
But the voter remembers just the same,
And he waits to reckon with interest.

Ponder awhile on these facts my friends,
'Tis time that some things had an end,
And to this cause your good vote lend,
You will find it to your interest.

Now election day is drawing near,
Last election's choice cost our state dear,
Give the democrats a chance this year
And things will happen of interest.

—Laura Mae Whitlock.

EDWARD LYNCH.

The democrats of this senatorial district made a happy choice when they nominated Edward Lynch for state senator. No man they could have put up is better fitted for the office and it is admitted by all that he has as many friends as any man in Wood county. Mr. Lynch was born in Lowell, Mass., in 1855, and came to this city with his mother when he was about a year and a half old, and has resided here almost continuously ever since. He received his education in this city and subsequently went to teaching school. He followed this vocation for eleven years when he was elected superintendent of schools which position he held for nine years. After this he engaged in lumbering and has been interested in this branch of industry in one way and another up to the present day. During the many years that Mr. Lynch has been a resident of our city and county he has made warm and true friends in both of the political parties, and since his nomination these men have come forward without exception and voluntarily expressed their determination to support him for the office to which he was nominated, and there is no doubt in anybody's mind that Mr. Lynch will carry his own county with a comfortable majority, and there are other parts of the district where he has received promises from men who can be depended upon to keep their word. If you vote for Mr. Lynch for state senator you may depend on it that you are casting your ballot for a man who will do his best to represent the people and not the corporations, as has been the case in the past.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Saved His Boy's Life.

"I believe I saved my nine-year-old boy's life this winter with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says A. M. Hope, Rio Grande, Wis. "My little boy caught me with the croup, but he could not speak. I gave him a few drops and he was all right in a few minutes. He is now well and happy." —John Decker's Capital for 5 cents is a gentleman's snuff.

High School Notes.

Miss Stearns of the Wisconsin Library Commission gave the school a very instructive talk Monday morning. She gave a short synopsis of the evolution of books, going back 2,000 years before the Book of Genesis when there were brick libraries, and taking them through the different stages of papyrus, parchment, and paper. She also told us how printing has developed, beginning way back there in uneducated China to the present mode of printing. Miss Stearns said that after 500 years, that the newspapers of today would be crumbled back to dust, and although it would be a good thing for our yellow journalism, it would be a pity to have our good literature turn to dust also. She said that out of the 8,000 books published last year in America only three would live in the future. "Up from Slavery," "Making of an American" and "John Richard Green Life and Letters." In closing she advised us to make the best use of our library and reading, choosing always the books which are most helpful to us, and will increase our knowledge.

Wednesday morning Rev. W. A. Peterson addressed the school. He told us plainly that we did not know how to study. He also said that the secret of studying aught lay in focusing the mind, and then with great concentration we could accomplish our lessons in a shorter time.

Mr. Youker read another chapter from Charles Dudley Warner's "Being a Boy," yesterday for morning exercises.

Dr. Witter of California, formerly a resident of Grand Rapids, and Rev. Shaw were high school visitors Monday.

All pupils who failed in their examination in any branch were examined on Saturday morning.

Mr. Mortenad has presented the school with a neatly framed picture of the graduating class of '02.

Last Tuesday morning for opening exercises several problems in mental arithmetic were given.

The report cards were given out last week, recorded with the standings for the first semi term.

Last Friday morning the Physicalogy class had a test on Habit.

The Seniors had a test last Tuesday in American History.

Concerning Telephone Rates.

The Wisconsin Telephone company will shortly, for the reasons stated, either terminate the one-minute toll period, or readjust the tariff for such period at a rate that will save further losses. Three years since, when the Erie company came into possession of the Wisconsin territory, the one-minute rate was introduced, and fixed at one-third of the then existing three-minute rate, that company believing that a large volume of business could be procured and handled profitably on this basis.

The toll lines of the company, at best, are used only during the busiest hours of the day. Ninety per cent of this business is for the short distance (under forty-five cents for three minutes) and the revenue from this service has fallen off sixty-six per cent. The time of all concerned, and the use of the lines necessary to getting the parties together, for which no charge is made, is very much greater than the revenue earning period, and as it costs no less to set the machinery in motion for one than for the three-minute conversation, no reduction whatever has been effected in the cost of operation.

There is some demand for one-minute business, and this demand will be met; but it will not be continued on a basis which those still in the management pronounced at the time illogical and disastrous.

The toll tariff for the state will be readjusted on the basis of two minutes as the little period, instead of three minutes as heretofore. These rates will appear in the October issue of the Milwaukee Directory. It is possible at this time to give the tariff for one-minute period, but this information may be had at the several headquarters of the company.

It is proposed by a company of physicians in the state to establish a "Health Park" in Wisconsin, for the relief and improvement of persons suffering with incipient cases of tuberculosis, and other diseases. It is considered practically certain that if given outdoor treatment and proper medical attention, such cases can be cured. The association is established along the line of the Boston Invalid Aid society, which has accomplished a wonderful work in the east. The enterprise has the support of the state Board of Health. The location of the park will probably be in a 240 acre pine timber area near Tomahawk. It will not be a charitable institution although poverty is no barrier to the enjoyment of its benefits.

It develops that the Madison literary bureau of the governor is addressing itself to "fair-minded" democrats with a view to posing the governor as a democrat, in the expectation of getting enough democrats to vote the republican ticket to insure the election of the apostle of "reform." Two years ago Gov. LaFollette was not looking for democratic votes. Then he was violently opposed to "Bryanism," but now he tries to make it appear that he is in thorough accord with the great Nebraskan. It's anything with LaFollette to get votes; but he greatly underestimates the intelligence of Wisconsin democrats when he assumes to catch them with that sort of chaff.—Ex.

That special train is still bethering the "reformers." They are quite sure that the democratic party is in league with the railroads because the democratic candidate is following the example set by LaFollette two years ago in taking advantage of special train service. Of course there was nothing wrong in the appointment of "reform" train for the special train, but it is a thing less than commendable to run a special train for the democratic candidate to the Madison Convention. —Grand Rapids Tribune.

TRIES TO FOOL VOTERS.

Cady's Figures Are Shown to Be False.

To the voters of Wood county:
In reading Candidate Cady's printed speech delivered at Pittsville at the beginning of this campaign, I find on pages from 11 to 16 an exhaustive treatise on the benefits of the Mill School tax to the people of Wood county, and an array of figures to substantiate his statements. Now this all looks very nice. The additions and subtractions are all accurate and I, like others, would have passed it by, thinking it a correct statement, if I had not been attracted by a sentence of page 15 which reads: "Now, the foregoing table of figures is the plain truth and I challenge any one to refute them."
Now, knowing Mr. Cady pretty well

and knowing that it is usual for a falsifier to be very loud in asserting the truthfulness of his statements when he is trying to cover something up, I became suspicious at once that something was under cover and proceeded to investigate the matter as I was somewhat fitted to do from the fact that I have had something to do with school matters in the past.

fixed teacher. This income is still received by the districts and the proceeds from the 1 mill tax is simply added to it.
This school fund from which the income is derived is as old as the state, having been provided for by the Constitution; and will continue in all probability as long as Wisconsin continues as a state.

Section 2, of Article X of the Constitution of Wisconsin reads as follows: "The proceeds of all lands, that have been or may be granted by the United States to this state for educational purposes (except the lands heretofore granted for the purposes of a University) and all moneys, and the clear proceeds of all property that may accrue to the state by forfeiture or escheat, and all moneys which may be paid as an equivalent for exemption from military duty; and the clear proceeds of all fines collected in the several and knowing that it is usual for a falsifier to be very loud in asserting the truthfulness of his statements when he is trying to cover something up, I became suspicious at once that something was under cover and proceeded to investigate the matter as I was somewhat fitted to do from the fact that I have had something to do with school matters in the past.

Now for the refutation. The one mill school tax law was passed by the Legislature of 1885. People past middle age will remember that before 1885 we had an income from the school fund which was annually apportioned to all school districts according to the number of children between the ages of 4 and 20, when the district had met the requirements of the law by having maintained a school a certain length of time, taught by duly quali-

counties, for any breach of the penal laws, and all moneys arising from any grant to the state where the purposes of said grant are not specified, and the five hundred thousand acres of land, to which the state is entitled by the provisions of an Act of Congress entitled "An act to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of public lands, and to grant pre-emption rights" approved the fourth day of September, one thousand eight hundred and forty-one; and also the five per centum of the net proceeds of the public lands, to which the state shall become entitled on her admission into the union, (if Congress shall consent to such appropriation of the two grants mentioned) shall be set apart as a separate fund, to be called "The School fund," the interest of which and all other revenues derived from the

THE MEN TO VOTE FOR

THEY ARE ALL WORTHY OF YOUR SUPPORT

Each One a Man Thoroughly Competent to Fill the Offices which the People Have Asked them to Accept.

We present our readers this week with pictures of the men who have been chosen by the democrats to occupy the county offices during the next two years. That they are all good men nobody questions for a moment, and there is no reason why they should not receive the hearty support of the people at large who desire to see the county offices delivered into hands that they may feel certain will perform the duty that has been assigned to them.

DAVID S. ROSE

There is not a man on the ticket who is not a gentleman in every respect and whom the people cannot feel proud of if he is elected to fill the office to which he has been nominated. Nearly all of them are men who have been honored with honorary offices by their home people, and so well have they performed the duties that have been thrust upon them and for which they received no compensation, that their neighbors have seen fit to offer them a county office and many of them have warm friends on both sides who have openly expressed the determination to see them elected. There is not a professional office seeker in the crowd, but all have other business, and have accepted the nominations at the solicitation of their friends.

These are the kind of men to put into office. They meet you just the same when there is no election in the air as when there is, and they recognize their acquaintances at all times of the year. Cast a ballot for the democratic nominees and you will be doing the best in your power to give the county a nice clean administration during the next two years.

school lands, shall be exclusively applied to the following objects, to wit: 1. To the support and maintenance of common schools, in each school district, and the purchase of suitable libraries and apparatus therefor."

You see it is only the interest on this fund that can be apportioned to the districts; the principal remaining untouched. The school districts, I believe, are the greatest borrowers from this fund. Any district desiring to build a school house can get a loan.

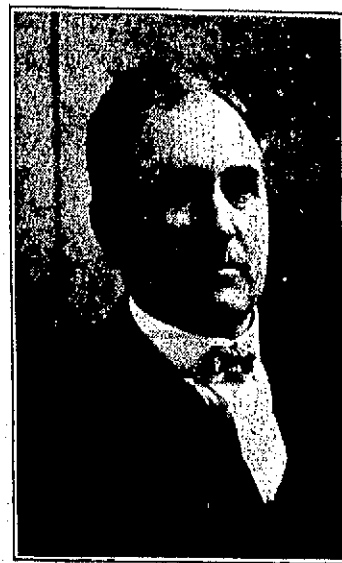

Now do you not think that Mr. Cady being a lawyer, knew all this? Why did he not have the fairness to tell you the exact truth? It may be due to the fact that he thought if he made his statements emphatic enough, you would not hunt it up. In other words he "took a chance."

In a letter that I received from the state superintendent, dated October

dent's statements you will see that this $2,612.00 was received from "Sources other than the 1 Mill Tax," and which Wood county would have received if there had been no 1 mill tax.

Mr. Cady in order to be "Frank" as his name would imply, will now find it necessary for him to revise all that great array of figures on pages 14 and 15 of his pamphlet where he shows the benefits to each town. I would also suggest to him to revise his figures in the eleventh line of page 16 where he gives the exact benefit to Wood county of the one mill tax.

In regard to my position on this 1 mill tax law I will say that I was superintendent of schools of this county when the law was passed, and was in favor of the law then, as was Thomas E. Nash, who was member of assembly at that time. I was in favor

Democratic Candidate for State Senator.

24th, 1902, in reply to inquiries I made I find that Mr. Cady's figures are exact as to the amount of school money received by the county from the state in 1901; also his figures are exact as to the amount of the 1 mill school tax Wood county paid to the state for the same year. But the state superintendent further says, "the number of persons of school age in the county reported was 10,448. The income from sources other than the one mill tax was slightly over $25 per capita. With this statement you will be able to determine the amount received from the 1 mill tax only, if you care to do so."

Now with a little figuring you see that 10,448 times $25 amounts to $261,200, and by the state superintendent of it during my six years incumbency of the office of superintendent after the law was passed and am in favor of the law now and will be as long as Wood county gets benefits from it. The only thing that I fear (after the airing the law has had in this campaign) is that no matter which party is successful at the election, those Southern counties that have been getting the worst end of the deal, will come before the next legislature and demand the repeal of the law upon the ground that both parties have proclaimed for "Just and equal taxation."

Yours very respectfully,
EDWARD LYNCH.

Human Flesh and Horse Flesh.

In many essentials all flesh is much alike. A remedy that will cure all manner of pains, sprains, strains, burns, scalds, cuts, bruises, chaps, scratches, galls, chafes, sores, lumbago, wounds, inflammations and swellings occurring in human flesh, is of equal value for like ailments of the flesh of beasts and is useful in the household for the hurts of childhood and the accidents and ills of every day life as it is in the stable, the gymnasium or the training quarters.

Such a remedy is Greene's Infallible Liniment which is endorsed by the heads of families, breeders, drivers, pugilists, trainers, bicyclists, athletes—everybody everywhere, who has used it. In proof of this claim, attention is invited to the following testimonials from:

CHAPTER XVIII.—(Continued.)

"When you believed that, you were right. Not a soul in the world does know the fact but your lawyer and Lionel Arden. See, Lawrence Richmond, do you recognize that document?" and from a woman she drew a scroll; "it is the paper that takes from you Richmond Terrace, the home of your ancestors. I am the one whom it has pleased to call her Lionel Marsden."

He stood there mute, his eyes gazed upon the precious document. Ah, if it were destroyed, Richmond Terrace might be his, and yet little good it would do him to do the deed, for beyond a doubt her lawyer had made it secure. Mysterious woman, who are you? But cause for enmity have you against that you hunt me down? Heaven has a fit to punish me for my great sin, even she, if she lived, could not look with pity upon the wreck of the proud Lawrence Richmond. I keep a show of pride still, but it is a mockery, for my heart is crushed in, and I am fit only for the grimace, Death. The past haunts me, and I do not regret it, for I was right, red her, oh how dearly, but she was to me, and I sent her from me."

The old man seemed overcome with recollections, and apparently forgot there was any one present. His head had fallen upon his chest, and his attitude was one of despair. They the feelings of his lost wife, lying there in front of him and hearing such a trade from his lips. It was evident that Time, healer of many ills both of body and heart, had failed entirely to alleviate the pain that had in the breast of this man.

A little lingering hope had remained, by this slender thread he was saved utter darkness. He loved the memory of what his wife had once been to even while he hated and cursed that day when they had separated to no more. Thus it was the recollection upon him seemed to bewilder him.

That woman stood, with folded arms and eyes full of unshed tears, waiting an agony of suspense. Something truth must have entered her mind, he did not betray herself. The words of the past, uttered at the hands of a man, arose before her mental and the sight must have given her courage and strength, for she gradually drew her form back until, from a pleading position, she had assumed the attitude of a queen.

"You are more than you seem; I had a power over my head, and can Lawrence Richmond out into the almost a beggar, but he never asked of man or woman in his life, is too late to begin now. I see you with my enemies, but I defy to your worst!"

She was something really heroic in her manner as she folded his over his chest and threw back his. The breeze blew his long white hair, and added new strength to him.

Even forbid that I should wish to you. No, no; I have forgiven all. See this document? It is worth ransom. There, it is lost, lost."

She spoke she turned into the house and the mortgage into the flames all fire burning upon the hearth, Lawrence Richmond with amazement.

"Are you mad? There is a fatal paper. It shall never be said beyond accepted such a sacrifice forward to save the document but barred the way.

"A thousand times no! See it again. There, Richmond Terrace is again."

"Who are you?" he gasped, not to know," she replied; but at her wrist and turned her to she met the blaze of his mad fears of anguish wept Carol on that afternoon when Roger the man she had loved and misad let her with such scathing on his lips.

CHAPTER XIX.

Had she even suspected the love for this man that dwelt heart until she saw him stand alone before her, indignantly himself against the charges her, and, while avowing innocent as the unborn babe, re the love she had once given even?" she cried out in her agony, wringing her white hands, "have I to bear already? I can bear all to me as father, home and thank heaven that in my destiny found a mother."

Carolized self-abasement she had the ground and let her head her arms as they rested upon Then she gave full sway to her hand sobbed convulsively for while her emotion spent itself, gradually became calm, but it almsness that indicated stony She had fallen into a sad, eric, when her thoughts were by the sound of footsteps.

She looked up, the blood darted face as the thought dashed and that perhaps this was Roger again for a reconciliation.

Agony hot and inflamed from tears she had shed, but no they rested upon the figure before her than she uttered partly of surprise, partly of cold and cruel, and the more resistance he met with the more determined he became to accomplish his ultimate end.

This girl seemed to defy him, and he was most firmly resolved that she should be his through fair means or foul, believing, as he did, that she was a great heiress. Perhaps he might have been just as obstinate had he learned of her father's poverty, for Carol was a girl worth winning.

"Carol," he said, subduing his voice, "I have found you at last."

"Well, sir, now that you have found me, what then?"

"You must return home with me, home to the father you left so heartlessly," he replied.

"It was he who was heartless, he who drove me from what has been my home. Think you I would ever have gone but for his cruelty? I promised him I would never marry without his consent, but I did not tell him he could choose my husband for me. I know all, sir—how you held a power over his head and forced him to do this cruel deed, but that does not entirely exonerate him. Why do you ask me, Captain Grant?"

"Because I would take you home again; because I would have you for my wife. In spite of all I am ready to forgive you and take you back again. You see how I love you, girl? You ran away with a man of the world, a man your father had no confidence in, and had refused admission to his house, but I am disposed to be magnanimous and forget it all."

"Indeed! well, no one asked you to be so magnanimous, Captain Grant. I have found a protector against whom even my father could not prevail to give me up."

The Captain uttered a cry.

"My soul! you are not married?" he cried.

"Married! I married? No, I did not mean to imply that, Roger Darrel took me to my mother when he carried me away from the Terrace."

"Your mother! Why, girl, your mother died many years ago, when all the rest of your family went," said the Captain.

"So every one was made to believe, but it was not so. My mother was believed deceitful by her husband, who sent her from him with curses that soon came back to him, for there fell the terrible blow that left him almost childless as well as wifeless. My mother is living, and on her heart I have found the peace that was denied me elsewhere."

"Come, come, this will never do; you must go home with me. Girl, I have sworn to make you my wife either by fair means or foul. Mine you shall be, must be. Do you give in to the working of fate?"

"I hardly know what you mean, Captain Grant. My poor brain has received so many blows of late that I seem to be in a species of daze the while; but if it is your intention to push the dastardly act in which you were engaged on that night when I was saved at the last minute from your wolfish power by the bravery of the only true friend I had left, then I will tell you it can never be."

She spoke calmly, and in a manner that carried the conviction of her firmness, but the only result was to cause the usually cool Captain to grow excited.

"Say not so, Carol. Do you not know that your father's wishes are bound up in this affair? I hold a dreadful secret over his head, and should I let it fall, he is a ruined man, not financially, I do not mean that, but in the eyes of the law he becomes a felon."

"A felon?"

"Yes, a felon, a murderer!"

"Oh, what is this you are telling me? It cannot be; it cannot be. Captain Grant, if you had the heart of a man you would never persecute a poor girl in this way. You will drive me to despair," she wailed.

"On the contrary, it is you who will drive me to despair. You have bewitched me by your beauty until I would risk torments to win you. Why not yield to fate? Surely you can struggle but little longer. Come, give me a fair answer, Carol."

"Can you not be merciful, sir? My father has never wronged you; why bring him into the matter? Why did you not woo me as other men might, and, if heaven decreed that it should not be, accept the decree with fortitude?"

"Because," he replied, with a sneer, "I saw the game was too well decided when I came, and that only by some supernatural agency could you be saved from throwing yourself away on that villain of a Roger Darrel."

"Hush, sir, do not bring him into the present matter."

"I would that he had never been in it, and then all might have been plane sailing for me. Come, girl, your answer."

"It is easily given. Once before I came near yielding to your wishes because of a false idea of duty toward my father. Thank heaven, I was saved from the pit by one who knew far better than I the wrong that was being put upon me. Since then I have found my mother and learned her story. I still love my father, and would do much for him, but I cannot, will not, make the sacrifice of my life, my happiness, for the sake of the man who sent his innocent wife from him, and has since braved heaven itself."

He seized her wrist in an iron clasp, and his eyes were fastened upon hers with the fascinating glare of a serpent's. She seemed charmed, powerless to move, and could only look into his scintillating orbs and shudder.

"Hands off, you villain!"

The voice was not that of a man, and, dropping the wrist of Carol, Captain Grant turned like lightning to the spot from whence it had come. Then a cry fell from his lips—the cry of a baffled conspirator almost driven to the wall.

"Barbara Merrilles!" he gasped.

CHAPTER XX.

It was in truth the gypsy girl who stood there—she whom Captain Grant had seen go over the terrible precipice, and whose body he supposed had been crushed out of all shape upon the jagged rocks far below, or swept away by the restless waters of the Potomac.

True, he had not hurried her over, but it had been because of him she had fallen, and when he might have saved her he would not raise his hand, so that he was at heart a murderer ever since, and the sight of her standing there alive and in the flesh gave him such a shock as he had not experienced for many a day.

The tableau was quite a dramatic one for about the space of a minute, none of the three moving a particle. During this while, however, the arch schemer was rapidly recovering himself, and that meant much.

He knew that Barbara had not come there without a purpose, and, although he had cause to fear her, he was just the man to brave it all through, trusting to fortune to clear him in the end.

Therefore he faced her boldly, and, in a way that staggered Barbara, who had fully expected him to cower at sight of her, and perhaps sink out of sight like a whipped cur. She ought to have known that was not his way of doing business.

Had he been married a dozen times, he would have faced the whole of his wives unflinchingly, and have denied them all with the same cool, sneering manner which he could assume so well.

The first words of the gypsy reassured Carol, and she learned much of which she had been ignorant before.

"Lady, you remember that when last we met I warned you against your lover, and told you that he was a scoundrel of the first water, that he had terribly wronged me in the past, and that he had a wife in the mad-house—one Nora Warner. Though I knew it not at the time, I was wronging both you and an honorable man, but I thought this man who now stands before you was your lover, and not the other. (Can you ever forgive me for such a mistake, lady?)"

Before Carol could reply, the Captain broke in with a harsh laugh.

"You must be crazy, girl. Why, I never set eyes on you before. What do you mean by coming here and intruding yourself upon my presence unasked? (Go! leave this spot at once, or I will find a means to make you. I would not hesitate a minute about giving you in charge, and having you locked up as a mad woman.)"

"I believe you, villain. Perhaps the time has not yet come for your downfall, but it is close at hand, never fear. You thought me dead, but heaven spared my life most miraculously, not because it was worth much to me, but in order that I might become an avenging Nemesis, to track you down to your doom. Oh, man, foul wretch that you are, when you remember the cruel, heartless deeds of the past, and then look upon the face of this pure girl, does not your heart reproach you?"

Again he laughed, this time coldly.

"You are pleased to be melodramatic, I see. There is nothing in my past to make me shudder when I look upon the face of this young girl, whom I hope to make my wife."

"Your wife? Never! Think you heaven would permit you to accomplish such a fiendish act? Remember my words, Roger Darrel, for I shall haunt you like a shadow, and the gypsy vanished among the trees like an evil spirit."

"Roger Darrel! Surely she must be out of her mind to call you by his name. Perhaps she has mistaken you for him; there is a certain resemblance which I have sometimes noticed," said Carol, after the gypsy girl had gone.

The crisis had come and passed, and she was deeper in the mire than ever. Captain Grant was quick to see this, and he smiled.

"You are right, Carol, the girl is mad. It seems to me every one almost has gone crazy of late. Only the other day I was forced into a duel by an unknown party who proclaimed herself my wife and called herself Nora Warner, and declared I was Roger Darrel. I wish I was a shadow; then I would go and hang myself for having injured so many people and caused them to curse my name."

She buried her face in her hands as though she could not bear to hear him talk so of the one she loved so well. Nothing could cause her to doubt Roger again, but at the same time she was now placed in a position where she dared not think of him.

Strange that Roger's words did not occur to her. "We shall meet once more, and when you see me as the man I am, and not in the guise of a villain who chances to belong to my family and bear my name, then perhaps you will deign to offer me your forgiveness."

(To be continued.)

Head-Work.

An elderly bicycle rider went to the establishment of a cycle dealer one day and said to the proprietor: "I have tried all sorts of saddles, and never found one that I can ride on comfortably. If you can make one that will fit me I will give you $25 for it."

"Come again in about an hour," said the dealer, after a moment's thought.

At the expiration of that time the customer came again. "Sit down," said the dealer, pointing to a chair, "and tell me what kind of a saddle you think you would like."

"That's for you to decide," replied the other. "I have no suggestions to make."

"Well, I'll do the best I can for you, and take the risk," rejoined the dealer, and after a few moments of desultory conversation the caller took his leave.

A day or two passed, and a new saddle was sent to his address. About a week later he came again. "Here's your $25," he said. "The saddle fits me perfectly. Would you mind telling me how you managed it?"

"Simplest thing in the world," replied the dealer. "Do you remember my asking you to sit down in that chair when you were here last?"

"Yes."

"Well, on that chair sat were two sheets of paper, with a sheet of carbon paper between them. When you sat down you left the impression of your 'schieftic' tuberosities," as they are called, or lower hip bones, on the white paper. It was easy to make a saddle to conform to the location of those bones, and—"

"I see," interrupted the customer. "You have earned your money."

Youth's Companion.

Selecting a Motto.

"So, my brave boy," said the veteran, "you are going into the army?"

"I am," answered the high-browed youth. "My motto shall be 'Excelsior!'"

"Don't adopt any such motto as that," "Well, then, 'Conquer or die!'"

"No."

"What would you suggest?"

"Think before you speak,"—Washington Star.

DEATH OF RAPHAEL KATZ.

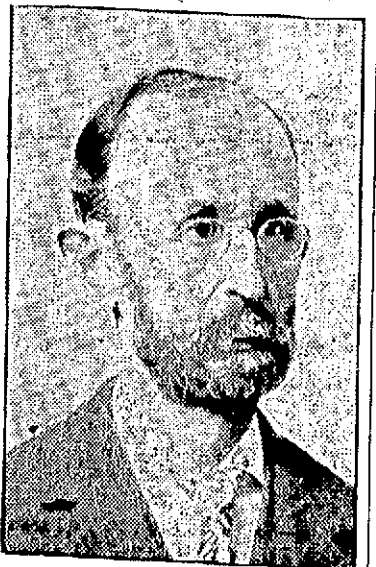

Well-Known Fond du Lac Business Man Passes Away.

AFTER A BRIEF ILLNESS

Received the Renomination for the Assembly at the Second District Democratic Convention Recently Held.

Fond du Lac, Wis., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—Assemblyman Raphael Katz died at his home on East Second street in this city yesterday afternoon at 2:20 o'clock, death being due to a complicated organic disorder with which he had been seriously affected for four weeks. His wife and daughter, Miss Sadie, were present at the time of his death.

Mr. Katz was born in Kruak, Province Posen, Germany, in 1841. He received a good German education and came to America in 1856. In 1857 he came to Fond du Lac and established Manitowoc, Wis., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—Mrs. Charles Fee, a well known resident of Gibson, north of here, died suddenly yesterday afternoon from apoplexy. She was 60 years of age.

WANTED HIS WIFE

TO SUPPORT HIM.

When She Refused Joseph Smith of Racine Deserted Her and Dijoce Follows.

Racine, Wis., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—Mrs. Mary C. Smith was granted a divorce this morning from Joseph Smith. Both are prominent socially. Mrs. Smith alleged that her husband deserted her because she would not get employment in a store and help support them. They were married two years ago. Smith holds a good position with the Case Threshing Machine Company.

ELOPE TO APOLLONIA.

Minneapolis Couple Come to Wisconsin to Wed—Wife Returns Home.

Apollonia, Wis., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—Dole Dessen, who was engaged in working for some time for the Chippewa Lumber and Boom Company in this locality among the lumber camps and upon log drives, but who now builds from Minneapolis, Minn., and Miss Susan Collins, a tailoress from the same city, came to this village from Minneapolis, from whence they had eloped, and were married before Justice of the Peace Colar. The bride returned to her parents, where she will make her home until such a time as they deem it safe to communicate the news to the irate parents. The groom has secured a situation with a lumber company in this neighborhood.

WILLIAM P. HOY WEDS.

Former Student at the State University Married at Woodstock, Ill.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—Word has been received here that William P. Hoy and Miss Claribel Wright of Woodstock, Ill., were married last night. Mr. Hoy is a son of G. H. Hoy, cashier of the Farmers' Exchange Bank, Woodstock, and a nephew of L. T. Hoy, secretary of the Republican Illinois state central committee, and the bride is the only daughter of A. S. Wright of the Illinois board of charities. Mr. Hoy was a student at the State University and a member of the Psi U fraternity.

ROBBED MAIL CAR.

Northern Pacific Express Held Up Sixty-four Miles West of Helena, Mont.

Helena, Mont., Oct. 24.—Train No. 2 on the Northern Pacific, the North Coast Limited, enroute, was held up and robbed three miles east of Bozeman, early this morning. The point where the robbery took place is about sixty-four miles west of Helena. The train was in charge of Conductor Quinn and Engineer O'Neill.

O'Neill was shot by the robbers and died soon after noon. The combination baggage and express car was blown to pieces and all the registered mail was taken. Supr. Horn gives the details of the robbery so far as known as follows:

"Train No. 2, Conductor Quinn, Engineer O'Neill, was held up this morning three miles east of Bozeman. Quinn reports that baggage car 230 was blown to pieces. Engineer O'Neill was shot through the mail car, taking all the registered mail, but got nothing else. They dynamited the combination baggage and express car, Will transfer baggage and express to box car at Bozeman and will take it to Butte. Lodge with bloodhounds as soon as we have location taken by robbers. Amendea, ready to take the trail of the robbers. Think our chances are good. So far as seen there was but one man wanted to know who he was to say he was the fellow that held up the Southern Pacific train south of Portland about a year ago."

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 24.—The Northern Pacific officials in St. Paul have posted a reward of $5000 for the delivery of the robber, dead or alive.

The posting of the reward has started active pursuit of the robber and it is believed he will be captured.

The Northern Pacific Company has borrowed the bloodhounds from the state penitentiary at Deer Lodge, Mont., and has also started out posses of men from Deer Lodge, Missoula and Anaconda, fully armed and prepared for a long search.

TO QUIT SHANGHAI.

France, England and Germany Yield to Policy of United States and Withdraw Troops.

Paris, Oct. 24.—The foreign troops that have occupied Shanghai since the summer of 1900 are to be withdrawn, and in return China opens the whole Yangtze valley to the commerce of the world.

There are now 1200 foreign soldiers at Shanghai, representing Great Britain, France and Germany. Under the agreement with China, which has not yet been officially confirmed, the troops are to be withdrawn by January 1, 1905.

The credit for bringing about this evacuation of Shanghai is largely due to the United States. It was the United States which opened the negotiations which led to the recent evacuation of Tien Tsin and the Washington government has been equally as successful in arranging the withdrawal of foreign troops from Shanghai. In both instances the United States is understood to have acted at the direct request of the Chinese government.

Naturally the United States shares equally with the other powers in the commercial advantages resulting from the opening of the Yangtze valley trade.

NEARLY ENOUGH FOR

M'KINLEY MEMORIAL.

Cash and Pledges Aggregating $550,000 Secured—Trustees will Meet Tomorrow.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24.—Postmaster General Payne and Secretary to the President George B. Cortelyou will leave for Canton, O., tonight to attend a meeting tomorrow of the trustees of the William McKinley Memorial Association. The meeting will be held for the purpose of selecting a site for the memorial to President McKinley.

Of the aggregate sum of $550,000, which the association desired to raise, it has in hand in cash and pledges about $550,000. New York contributed about $150,000 of this amount, and Ohio a little more than $100,000. The trustees will not be cramped for funds in carrying out their project. It is likely that the memorial will be located on the most commanding site in the Canton cemetery, not far from the present tomb of the dead President.

HURRICANE KILLS SEVERAL PEOPLE.

Buenos Ayres, Argentina, Oct. 24.—A hurricane has swept over Port Diamante, Province of Entre Rios. Fifteen persons were killed and many were injured. A hundred houses were destroyed and several ships were sunk. Nogoya and other places were also damaged.

DOZEN FIREMEN IN DANGER.

Had to Throw Themselves Down Stairway in Order to Escape.

New York, Oct. 24.—Fire early today destroyed a stock of sporting goods in the warehouses of It. H. Ingersoll & Co. at 143-145 Washington street. Two firemen were overcome by smoke and were carried to a hospital.

A dozen men carrying a line of hose were confronted by flames which suddenly burst through the doors on the third floor. They were compelled to throw themselves down a stairway in order to escape. Several sustained minor injuries.

Loss on building and stock is estimated at $50,000.

GENERAL STRIKE IN PROSPECT.

Many Big Buildings and Residences in New York May be Tied Up.

New York, Oct. 24.—With the prospect of a general strike of all the building trades, numbering 75,000 men, in sympathy with the striking plasterers, in this city are facing a serious situation. The tie-up on many big buildings and private residences continues, and the strike affected hundreds of workmen in other trades whose work follows that of the plasterers.

FORTS ON SWISS FRONTIER.

Action by Germany that is Causing Great Anxiety.

London, Oct. 24.—"Great anxiety is felt here," says the Geneva correspondent of the Daily Chronicle, at Germany's decision to fortify the entire German-Swiss frontier with a line of forts. It is expected that Switzerland will follow suit.

—In London there are more fires on Saturday than any other day of the week.

IN A STATE OF SIEGE.

Striking Dock Laborers Terrorizing People in Dunkirk, France.

STREETS BARRICADED.

Huge Warehouses Where Oil is Stored Set on Fire—Contents of Wine Shops Appropriated.

Dunkirk, France, Oct. 24.—The dock laborers of this city, who went on strike in sympathy with the coal miners, broke away from all restraint and ravaged the streets of the town, terrorizing all with whom they came in contact. The troops which were sent to the city to quell the tumult were beaten back and the strikers have erected barricades in all the principal streets. In one of the cavalry charges several of the rioters were seriously hurt and the lieutenant commanding the troop was wounded, as were also all the commissaries of police present.

The town was practically in a state of siege all day. All the shops were barred and few people were seen on the streets unless for imperative reasons. The mobs invaded the law courts, interrupting the proceedings. Business and traffic of all kinds were suspended during the day and streets filled with bands of strikers, who, drunk and reckless, wreaked vengeance upon any unfortunate passerby they chanced to meet. Wine shops were broken into and liquor flowed freely.

Martial Law is Proclaimed.

The docks are already seriously damaged. One large body of strikers set to work to throw all the immense loading cranes on the edge of the wharves into the sea, and as many of these weigh several tons it will be weeks before they can be raised and adapted for work. Another gang set a match to a huge warehouse filled with barrels of oil and the fire resulting from this conflagration spread for half a mile along the wharf. It was only by the aid of the military and the fire trucks operating from the harbor that the flames were put out. It was following this that martial law was proclaimed.

The section of the city adjacent to the docks was entirely in the hands of the rioters. With the peculiar facility common to all Frenchmen in the erection of barricades the strikers erected many strong fortifications of overturned wagons, casks and crates on every street leading from the heart of the city to the docks, about half a mile from the harbor, and these fortifications they backed by thousands of bags of sugar, codfish, salt and other things which are of a nature to be almost bullet proof.

The dock laborers today formally decided, by 1711 votes to 481, to resume work. The town was quiet today, an overwhelming force of troops having been sent here by the military authorities.

WRECK DELAYS TRAINS.

Traffic on the Milwaukee Road Between Here and Chicago Stopped for Several Hours.

Somers, Wis., Oct. 24.—[Special.]—A freight train on the Milwaukee road was wrecked near here at 3 o'clock this morning. While going up grade a journal on one of the cars broke and two cars were derailed and several others were thrown off the track. No one was hurt. Train was delayed until 8 a. m. The train was loaded with fruit.

FLYING PIECE OF IRON FROM A FEED CUTTER.

Caused the Instant Death of Edward Hart on a Farm at Nadeau, Mich.

Monominee, Mich., Oct. 24.—[Special.]—Edward Hart, aged 21, son of Calvin Hart of Nadeau, was instantly killed today by a flying piece of iron from the wheel of a fodder cutter on his father's farm. Young Hart was feeding the cutter when a chunk of iron weighing 12½ pounds and 18 inches long flew off and struck him just below the shoulder blade. The iron passed through his body, tearing a hole a foot in diameter, coming out through the breast.

ROCKEFELLER'S THANK OFFERING.

Pledges $750,000 to the Trustees of Columbia University.

New York, Oct. 24.—At the meeting today of the teachers' college trustees of Columbia University it was announced that John D. Rockefeller had offered $500,000 to the college, provided that the college could raise $300,000 to pay off the debt of the institution, and $250,000 besides.

It was announced also that Mr. Rockefeller makes the gift as a "thank offering to Almighty God" for the preservation of himself, his family and household from the fire which recently destroyed his country home at Pocantico hills.

Bad-Named Village.

On the western slope of the Berkshire hills is a small village which is literally painted red once in every ten or twelve years. Twenty-five years before the battle of Lexington Sylvanus Cunningham, a peddler of notions, passed through the settlement. His cart was upset and all his wares thrown out in the road. The villagers rushed to his aid, but when he took a hasty inventory of his stock he declared that much was missing, and furthermore denounced the place, and said it should thenceforth be known as "Piffershire." And thus it was known until 1825, when the village fathers called a meeting to take steps toward throwing off the ignominious name. As a substitute some one mentioned "Red Rock." This was met by the objection that there were no red rocks in the vicinity. Whereupon a shrewd old man suggested that they could plant one. So a great rock by the roadside was given a coat of deep, rich red, and since that time "painting day," which occurs about every dozen years, has been one of the great celebrations in Red Rock's history. It was last painted in the summer of 1889, so that it is comparatively fresh, and the rock itself is not a particle more eternal than the satisfaction of the villagers.—Ladies' Home Journal.

The Wire for the Russian Tongue.

Discussions and stories of a linguistic character have a peculiar charm for Opie Reed, says the Philadelphia Press. Recently he was surrounded by a group of newspaper men. One of these confessed that he had lately taken up the study of the Russian tongue, with very discouraging results, considering the fact that French, Spanish and Italian had been comparatively easy for him. "Oh, that's not strange," consolingly remarked the story writer, "the Chicago Telephone company had a worse experience than that with the terrors of the Slax tongue. A druggist in the heart of the Russian colony recently had a telephone instrument installed in his place for the accommodation of his patrons. The minute the first user of the telephone began to talk Russian into the receiver the wire knicked into small knots like a tensely twisted string. They couldn't do a thing to meet the emergency until one of the telephone men who had once attempted to do missionary work in a Russian settlement in Minnesota replaced the smooth insulated copper strand with the ordinary barb wire. That jagged medium proved a perfect means of transmission for Russian speech."

An Aforetime Anarchist.

"Very few anarchists ever become prosperous and contented citizens," says a detective. "They have been some instances, though. I have in mind one man who fifteen years ago was very prominent in anarchist circles here. He even published a little paper in the interest of anarchy. The sheet was so rabid that after the Haymarket riots it was suppressed. This man was an expert chemist, and his fame had followed him from Germany, from which country he had been expelled. He was offered employment at a salary of $60 a week—more money than he had ever dreamed of making. He was frugal in his habits and soon acquired a snug bank account. With approaching affluence he turned his back upon his old associates, and eventually married an American woman. To-day his name is but a memory among the anarchists."—Philadelphia Record.

Largest Tableland in the World.

The bulk of Tibet is the Chang, or Great Tibetan plateau, the highest as well as the largest tableland on the earth, says a St. Petersburg correspondent. An idea of its elevation may best be obtained from the statement of Captain Hamilton Bower, one of the most highly regarded of recent authorities: "From the end of June until the middle of November the average altitudes of our camps was over 16,000 feet, the lowest being 14,621 and the highest 18,760 feet." During the period already referred to the enormous stretch of country crossed by Captain Bower's party did not show a single tree and only two species of shrub, "and these rarely exceeded six inches in height."

Summer Rainfall in Ireland.

The dryness of the summer of 1901 in Ireland may be judged from the rainfall record taken in the south of the island. From the 16th of April to the 8th of August the recorded rainfall only amounted to 5.63 inches. This is 3.65 inches under the average fall for the corresponding period of the last eleven years. The total rainfall in the same period last year was 10.16 inches, while the days of absolute drought were 51 in 1900 as against 73 this year.

Japan and the English Language.

The Japanese government has decided that in the future all its communications with foreign powers shall be made in the English language. The Japanese recognize two things in doing this: First, that as the bulk of their trade is carried on with England and the United States, those countries enjoy most of Japan's foreign intercourse, and, second, that the English language has become the dominant language of commerce, literature and science and must eventually be practically the universal language.

Population of Rhodesia.

A return issued by the Statistical Department of Rhodesia shows that the total population of the southern portion of the colony is 15,852, of whom 11,413 are males and only 4,410 females. Europeans number 11,032 (2,922 females), colonial natives, 3,728, and Asiatics 1,093. The figures for the two provinces are—Machobane, 5,037; Matabeleland, 10,815.

A Communication.

—Mr. Editor—Allow me to speak a few words of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I suffered for three years with the bronchitis and could not sleep at nights. I tried several doctors and various patent medicines, but could get nothing to give me any relief until my wife got a bottle of this valuable medicine, which has completely relieved me. —W. S. Longer, but Not Higher.

Napoleon was searching one day for a book in the library of Malmaison and at last discovered it on a shelf somewhat above his reach. Marshal Moncey, who was present, one of the tallest men in the army, stepped forward, saying, "Permit me, sire; I am higher than your majesty." "You are longer, marshal," said the emperor with a frown.

Sultan's Judgment at Fault.

The Sultan of Morocco did not show much judgment in the choice of a present for Emperor William. It consisted of ten horses of a delicate breed. It was soon found that they could not stand the Berlin climate. One had to be shot, while the others were given by the Emperor to friends, with the proviso that they must not be sold or given away.

AN ABLE ANSWER.

CADY'S SPEECH IS RIDDLED.

Life Long Republican's Eyes Opened by Double Dealing Shown in Misleading Statements.

Some time ago Assemblyman Cady made a speech at Pittsville on the political issues of the day and himself, in particular, and from what can be gathered, the republicans must have thought it was about all right, as they have had the speech printed and have sent copies of it to a large number of the voters in the county. From the following letter which is taken from the Marshfield News, it will be seen that there are some republicans who are onto Frank, and have kept track of his political career, and realize that he made some rapid changes wholly unaccounted for during his stay down at Madison:

Nashville, Oct. 21st, 1902.
To the Editor: Some good but unknown friend sent me by mail a copy of a speech delivered by Mr. Frank A. Cady at Pittsville. The speech was made for the purpose of securing votes for the ticket headed by R. M. LaFollette, and on which ticket Mr. Cady is a candidate for legislative honors.

Frank implores voters to support Wiperman and himself, he says, "in order that we, if elected, may cast our votes as legislators, as we have been instructed to do, for John C. Spooner." Mr. Editor, if I understand language, neither Mr. Wiperman nor Mr. Cady are instructed to support Spooner. If I understand actions, both worked hard to defeat the passage of such resolutions in both the county and state conventions.

Mr. Cady speaks very highly of the present governor, and tells how he has been fighting the corporations of the state. Say! Mr. Editor, I think Frank should refresh his memory on this matter. He should read the Payne-Kress-Murphy letters, wherein LaFollette sold himself to the corporations. He should recall to mind the special train furnished to LaFollette in 1900 by the railroad corporations of the state. He should recall to mind the remarkable message sent to the legislature by the governor, where language was used to create the impression that railroads were fairer in these matters than some people of the state were. He should recall to mind that the railroad lobbyist used Gov. LaFollette's message to defeat the passage of bills increasing railroad taxes. He should recall to mind that Gov. LaFollette did not recommend an increase of railroad taxes. He should recall to mind that several of Gov. LaFollette's closest lieutenants and heelers voted against both railroad bills. He should recall that one in particular, who voted against bill 164-A, was, after the legislature adjourned, rewarded by being appointed game warden. He should recall to mind the fact that the governor vetoed a bill that provided for the appointment of a freight rate expert in the railroad commissioner's office. One must believe from reading the above that relations between Gov. LaFollette and the railroad corporations were, to say the least, very friendly.

Regarding the Frost Mortgage bill, Mr. Cady has little to say. He well knows the false and deceitful position LaFollette took in this important matter and it is not to be wondered at that he "dodges." He well knows that today there are thousands of poor people in Wisconsin who are made to suffer because Gov. LaFollette was not honest in his efforts to change the present law taxing mortgages. He at least might have explained what candidate Attorney General Sturdevant does when he loans money on real estate mortgages. Frank is at sea on the mill tax, but is long on the game warden question. He leaves the impression that there are only twenty-two game wardens in the state, when he knows better. He knows that in the month of September there were sixty-three game wardens and they were paid more than seven thousand five hundred dollars for work done during that month.

Mr. Cady says he favors the passage of a primary election law. This means the Stevens bill. Two years ago he stated that he was against the bill. He maintained this position until about four days before the bill was passed and from some unaccountable and still unexplained reason he changed his mind. The quickness of his change in this matter could be likened to the action in which one Stephenson would spend his coin to defeat the return of Spooner to the senate.

When Mr. Cady strikes the subject of taxation of corporations he is strictly in it. He is a railroad attorney and if faithful must work for the interest of his client. He enjoys the pleasant privilege of riding on a railroad pass, such a pass as railroads give their employees and lobbyists. In his other capacity Frank is the attorney for the people and against railroads. He has clients whose interests in this matter are antagonistic.

Mr. Cady may take offense at this and "point with pride at my record of 1901" when he voted for both railroad bills, but Mr. Editor I am not deceived by this, as it was quite possible, and still more probable, that he knew, as others of the governor's followers did, that those bills could not pass the assembly, because a large number of LaFollettees were against them. Thus he could vote for the bills without harm to the railroads, maintain his friendly pass relations with them, and also be solid with his other client, the people.

Mr. Editor I would like to call your attention to some things not mentioned in Mr. Cady's printed speech.

He said nothing about the Ice Tax bill, which, as I understand it was a "hold up bill." A notorious measure and clearly against the provisions of the constitution. Frank voted for it and the governor signed it. The supreme court, however, set it aside and now it is a dead one.

Mr. Cady did not say anything about vessel taxation. He voted for that bill and the governor signed it. Under its provisions, LaFollette's friend and manager, Isaac Stephenson the millionaire of Marinette, pays about fifteen dollars tax on his two steam yachts that have a value of about one hundred fifty thousand dollars. Equal taxation I suppose from a LaFollette-Cady standpoint.

Mr. Cady did not say anything about why he voted against the bill to have a competent freight rate clerk in the railroad commissioner's office. The bill was a good one, passing the senate without a vote against it, passed the assembly with Mr. Cady's opposition but was vetoed by the governor. The bill was directed against the railroad corporations and was in favor of the people and I can't see why it was vetoed, unless the governor wished to continue his favors to the corporations.

There is one thing that is very interesting to certain people that Mr. Cady does not touch upon at all. That is the Kronshage-LaFollette Independent Book company deal. Why this neglect, Frank was on the ground and I cannot see how this escaped him. The people are waiting for someone to clear this matter up. It is admitted by all that the book companies paid Kronshage two thousand dollars; that Kronshage sent at least fifteen hundred dollars to Rogers, who was LaFollette's confidential clerk; that the money was spent for the benefit of LaFollette; that Harvey was defrauded. Mr. Cady said nothing of this.

Now Mr. Editor I am a republican and always have been. I would like to vote for a republican governor and a republican member of the assembly. I would like to vote for men in these positions who would represent the people and the interest of the people. I can get no encouragement from what Mr. Cady says in his Pittsville speech nor from what he does not say, to give my support to him and LaFollette.

I believe that the good of the future of the republican party demands that these men be defeated in November. Yours truly,

A LIFE LONG REPUBLICAN.

Mayor Rose Coming.

This evening our people will have the chance to listen to Mayor David S. Rose, who will be at the opera house to address the people on the political issues of the day from a democratic viewpoint. It is unnecessary to tell the people of this city that the mayor is a good speaker, because a large number have heard him talk, and those who have not heard of him.

Mr. Rose has been putting up some rattling good speeches the past few weeks and the people of the city and surrounding country should not miss hearing him. He has been propounding some hard riddles for the opposition to solve during his travels through the state, and he intends to keep it right up to the end.

Every voter who can be present should make it a point to be there and hear what Mr. Rose has to say for himself and the democratic party in general. It won't do you any harm and it may do you some good.

A Foxy Boy.

In the above title, we should have an uproariously funny farce based upon lines and situations entirely new to the American stage.

The author has succeeded in weaving together complications heretofore unknown and furnishes us with the best of weird comedy plays. The ludicrous predicaments of the old father who wishes that he were a boy and of the son who wishes he were a man, and both of whom by an Indian wishing stone are unconsciously for the moment, changed, form the basis for the most laughable of situations of which a brilliant company of funny comedians, talented and pretty women take plenty and continuous advantage. The second act shows the father at school as the gratification of his unmeant wish. All sorts of complications and troubles arise, and tend to make life miserable for him. The "Garuda," or "Magic" stone does not stop there but works havoc among others as well, and all play to the tenor of a farce replete with humor and side splitting comedy. At the Grand Opera house Wednesday, Nov. 5th.

WORK IS FINISHED.

WATERWORKS LINE COMPLETE.

The Last Test Was Made on Tuesday Afternoon and System Will Soon Be in Use.

Work on the waterworks line in this city was completed on Tuesday, as a consequence there are several happy men in town. Among this number is Engineer Pfeiffer, who, during the past two summers, has been engaged in inspecting the work, and the amount of trouble he has encountered in trying to get the work done in a satisfactory manner has at times almost discouraged him in the work.

The last of the testing was done on Tuesday afternoon and the pipe line was found to meet all the requirements that the contract calls for and even exceeds the leakage test by a good margin. The system was given the final test at a pressure of one hundred and fifty pounds to the square inch, which is probably fifty per cent more pressure than it will ever be called on to stand in actual use.

It is probable that very few cities have ever passed through the trouble that this city has in the laying of these few miles of water pipe. For two seasons our streets have been torn up almost continuously, and many had begun to think that there was no probability of the work ever being completed. But as is usual in such cases, the unexpected has happened, and there is no question but what both sides of the river will soon have an abundant supply both for domestic use and fire protection.

In connection with this it might be mentioned that no agreement has been come to between the committee appointed by the council and Mr. Vaughn for the purchase of additional land on which to construct wells for obtaining an added supply of spring water.

Was not Hydrophobia.—A report was received by Dr. Pomainville last week concerning the dog's head that was sent to discover if the animal was afflicted with hydrophobia and it was to the effect that no such disease had existed. This will no doubt prove quite a surprise to many who firmly believed that the animal was afflicted with rabies, and others who shot valuable dogs because the animals had shown symptoms of some kind of sickness. No doubt the dog that died had some ailment and dogs that were bitten by him should have been confined and watched very closely, but it was not absolutely necessary to kill them because they showed signs of some sort of sickness. A dog that has been used to running every day will invariably lose its appetite when confined and will often become so cross that it can hardly be approached, but this does not indicate that it has hydrophobia. Rabies is a disease that is seldom encountered, so seldom in fact, that some medical men claim that there is no such disease, and if a man has a valuable dog he should give the animal a chance before killing it.

Northwestern Rates.—Very low excursion rates to New Orleans, La., via the Northwestern Line. Excursion tickets will be sold at reduced rates November 6 to 9 inclusive, limited by special extension to return until November 30, inclusive, on account of American Bankers' Convention. Apply to agents Chicago & Northwestern Ry.

Home-seekers excursions to the north-west, west and southwest, via the Northwestern Line. Home-seekers excursion tickets at greatly reduced rates will be sold on the first and third Tuesdays of each month, November, 1902, to April, 1903, inclusive, to the territory indicated above. Standard and tourist sleeping cars, free reclining chair cars and the "Best of Everything." For full particulars apply to agents of Chicago & Northwestern Ry.

Senator Quarles' Speech.—There was a good crowd turned out on Thursday evening in spite of the fact that the weather was a trifle damp. The senator is a nice, easy, fluent talker, and a talk by him can be enjoyed by anybody. In his Thursday's speech he confined himself to national affairs and those who had gone there expecting to hear LaFollette vindicated and Rose ripped up the back were somewhat disappointed with the outcome. In fact, you would not have known that there was such a person on the face of the earth as LaFollette by listening to him. Mr. Quarles cannot be blamed for this, however, as he and Bob are not in sympathy in any way, excepting that they both want to be elected again, and both know that it would be pretty hard to elect one and defeat the other, so each tolerates the other.

Wood Becoming Scarce.—F. MacKinnon reports that his company has received orders for all the wood they can deliver from their visible supply, and that he expects that they will be entirely out by the 10th of November. He advises people who have depended on them for their winter's supply of wood and have not secured it to lay in a supply of gas coke with which to tide them over the coal weather. The adjustment of the coal strike will probably not affect this region for some time to come, as the demand right around the mines will probably use all that can be obtained for some little time.

Her 9th Birthday.—Lucille Church entertained her little friends on Saturday, the occasion being the celebration of her ninth birthday. The Bonger store building was used by the little folks for their frolics during the afternoon and they subsequently reported a lovely time.

Halloween Friday.—Next Friday is All Saints day and this is the time when Cupid is alleged to stalk abroad and appraise waiting maidens of their probable chances in the matrimonial line. The coming Halloween is supposed to be a specially propitious one, as it falls on Friday, which adds very materially to the success of a charm tried on this evening. Small boys are warned, however, that the day falling on Friday makes it very unlucky for them to attempt any of their pranks and they are admonished to keep closely to the house on that evening.

Cheap Rates.—Via the Wisconsin Central Ry. On the first and third Tuesdays of November, December, January, February, March and April the W. C. will sell one-way tickets to points in Arkansas, Colorado, Indian Territory, Kansas, Louisiana, Missouri, Nebraska, New Mexico, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Texas, and Wyoming at one half the regular fare plus $2.00 with a minimum of $16.25 to points in Nebraska and Kansas and $12.75 to points in South Dakota.

Musical Program.—On Sunday evening next the choir of the Congregational church will give the first of a series of musical programs which will be a feature at the church the coming season. The choir, under the direction of T. A. Taylor, has heretofore given some fine programs which have been greatly enjoyed by those who heard them, and there is no doubt but what those to come will be fully equal to the ones that have occurred in the past.

Two Married Men.—A fairly good crowd greeted the production of Two Married Men at the opera house on Monday evening, and there was plenty of fun and laughter for those present. The show was one of the best of the kind that makes this locality and those who want to be amused were certainly gratified.

Home Seekers Rates.—Via the Wisconsin Central Ry. On the first and third Tuesdays of November, December, January, February, March and April the W. C. will sell round trip tickets to points in the west, north west, south and south-west at one fare plus $2.00 good 21 days from date of sale.

Advertised Letters.—The following letters remain uncalled for in the West side post office: Mrs. Chas. Bocher, Mrs. Carry Klug, Mrs. Adelaide Potter, Mrs. John W. Wood, Miss Lillian Warner (2), John Larson, John B. Peterson, Wm. Thomson, Albert Travis.

Died at Poor Farm.—John Malone, aged 68, died at the poor farm Tuesday evening. He has been an inmate of the institution for the past seven or eight years. Cause of death was paralysis. He was buried today.

Election Returns.—Jacob Lutz has made arrangements to have the election returns delivered at his sample rooms as soon as they are received. They will be posted there where they can be seen by all.

Marriage Licenses.

The following marriage licenses were issued by the county clerk during the past week:

Peter Jorgensen, Lincoln, and Ida Kusa, Marshfield.
Ray Hosteman and Josephine Lewis, both of Marshfield.
Clarence Blumenstein and Anna Lahman, both of Marshfield.
James Griffith and Marie Rose, both of Babcock.
Henry Lucier and Bertha McGrath, Grand Rapids.
Arnold Vanderhei and Clara Sherier, both of Grand Rapids.
Jacob Schueller and Anna Hillmann, both of Lincoln.
Charles Dorrin, Bakerville, and Edna Austin, Lincoln.

Sale and Supper.

On election day the ladies of Saint Katharine's Guild will have a sale and supper at the Candy Kitchen. The sale will begin at 10 a. m. and continue through the day. It will repay all to at least see the articles which will be for sale as many pretty and useful things have been received and made by the ladies.

At 5:30 p. m. a beautiful supper will be served for the reasonable sum of 25 cents. This of course will appeal to all in itself past reputation but in addition there will also be that which will be uppermost in the minds of all men and women—the election returns. What more can anyone want for 25 cents. Invitations are extended to all the organization in town to come and enjoy a pleasant evening.

The Menu for the Supper is as follows:

Oyster Stew	Crackers.
Veal Loaf	Salad.
Pork and Beans	Jeilied Tongue.
Doughnuts	Pickles.
	Bread and Butter.
	Coffee.

Hallowe'en Party.

Do not miss a jolly time at the young ladies Hallowe'en party at Foresters hall Thursday evening, March 30. Everybody invited.

Goes Like Hot Cakes.

"The fastest selling article I have in my store," writes druggist C. T. Smith of Davis, Ky., "is Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, because it always cures. In my six years of sales it has never failed. I have known it to save sufferers from Throat and Lung diseases, who could get no help from doctors or any other remedy." Mothers rely on it, best physicians prescribe it, and John E. Daly guarantees satisfaction or refund price. Trial bottle free. Reg. sizes, 50c and $1.

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN CARPENTER WAS ALL READY TO DIE.
Fred Reinhold, Aged 80 Years, Completed All His Funeral Arrangements Shortly Before Death.
Prairie du Chien, Wis., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Fred Reinhold, a pioneer of this city, died at his home at the age of 80 years.
Mr. Reinhold was a carpenter by trade and made his own coffin a few years ago. The funeral, full arrangements for which he had made, will be held Sunday.

FIGHT MAY COST RIFON ITS LIBRARY.
The Common Council Refuses to Ratify Library Board's Choice of Site.
Ripon, Wis., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—There is a hitch in the Carnegie free library project in this city. The council having by resolution accepted the $10,000 Carnegie gift and guaranteed $1000 a year for maintaining the same, W. J. Starr of Eau Claire and S. T. McKnight of Minneapolis added $3000 each to the gratuity, upon condition that a satisfactory site be provided. Herein lies the difficulty. Several sites have been proposed and the citizens are all wrought up upon the question. Acting upon what they deemed to be their authority under the statute, the library board selected and contracted for a site and reported the same to the council. A part of them being adverse, the resolution to pay for the site failed to carry, the mayor casting the deciding vote against it. A proposition is now pending looking to the submission of the legal questions involved to eminent lawyers of the state, upon stipulation to abide the result of their decision.

WOMEN MUST NOT USE HUSBANDS' INITIAL.
Their Own Names Must be Used in Registering—Many Rejected by Board at Janesville.
Janesville, Wis., Oct. 25.—There is considerable disappointment, especially among the club women of the city, over the discovery that the majority of the names presented by the school teachers or registration were rejected by the board of health because in the case of married women the initials of the husband were invariably given instead of the woman's own Christian name. The lists which were prepared by the teachers and sent to the registration boards included nearly 1000 women. Many of them are married and their registration is perfectly legal, but the married women who want to vote at the coming election must attend to their registration personally next Tuesday or else swear in their votes.

WEDDING A SURPRISE.
Miss Greve and M. H. Dempsey Quietly Married at Home of Bride's Grandparents at Manitowoc.
Manitowoc, Wis., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Miss Screna Greve and Michael H. Dempsey were married last night at the home of the bride's grandparents. There were no friends present and the relatives were the grandsons of the bride. The groom is proprietor of a National cafe in this city and is well known in Milwaukee. The bride is related to several prominent families in Chicago. It was known that the couple were engaged, but no one thought that nearly marriage was contemplated.

BARN ARE DESTROYED.
Fighting Causes Very Heavy Losses to Farmers.
Skeaton, Wis., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Large barns and out buildings on the Holsche farm, three miles west here, were struck by lightning and destroyed, together with all the hay, grain, seed and some machinery, causing loss of over $5000 with very little insurance.

CHLOROFORMS WOMAN.
Mar Then Ransacks House at Marinette.
Marinette, Wis., Oct. 25.—Burglars entered the home of Mrs. Henry La Casse, a dresser and secured $100. La Casse was awakened with difficulty by her children this morning and they found she was chloroformed.

INJURIES CAUSE DEATH.
Motor Thomas Weeks of Antigo was Hurt in Runaway.
Antigo, Wis., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Motor Thomas Weeks, who was in a runaway near here last Sunday in his injuries last night.

OBITUARY MENTION.
Nels Jensen, Osceola.
Osceola, Wis., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Jensen, one of Polk county's old men, died at the home of his brother, aged 69 years. He had resided here since 1871.

German Brockhaus, Kewaskum.
Kewaskum, Wis., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—German Brockhaus, aged 83 years, died of paralysis of the heart. He was the oldest settler of this town.

Harvey Smith, Portage.
Portage, Wis., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Harvey Smith died at his home in this city. He is survived by Mrs. M. Zimmerman and Mrs. Lawson, both of Portage. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon.

E. W. Bell, Bloomer.
Bloomer, Wis., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—E. W. Bell, an old and well known settler of this county, died at his home in Bloomer. He was a native of A. R. man.

Illionaire Octogenarian Ill.
Lake Park, Wis., Oct. 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Gottfried had contemplated to go to Chicago home last week, but on account of the sudden illness of Mr. Gottfried the trip is postponed indefinitely. He is 80 years old. His estate is estimated to be $4,000,000.

Coal Destroyed at Waukegan.
Waukegan, Ill., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—A fire in the coal company of Waukegan destroyed a pile of coal of Eastern soft coal on its way out to the lake. It was found impossible to put out the fire.

AGAIN UNDER ARREST.
Wisconsin Man Being Persecuted by His Enemies at San Juan—His Campaign for Good Government.
San Juan, Porto Rico, Oct. 25.—Hobart Bird, editor of the News, was arrested Thursday on the complaint of the mayor, amid a great demonstration, on the charge of libel in publishing the text of the citizens' petition presented to the governor, asking that the mayor be prosecuted for destroying the municipal records. Many of the signers of the petition, numbering 200, have been threatened in dodgers and letters.
Madison, Wis., Oct. 25.—Col. George W. Bird was not surprised when he heard that his son, Hobart S. Bird, editor and publisher of the San Juan News, had again been arrested on charge of libel. Letters were received from the young man several days ago saying that the situation was still unsettled and that he would not be surprised if his opponents resorted to further suits against him. The entire trouble, Col. Bird says, is caused by his son's vigorous campaign for good government in the islands. Col. Bird is attempting to call President Roosevelt's attention to what he considers the deplorable political situation in the island.

R. D. MARSH ELECTED.
The Closing Session of the Northeast Wisconsin Teachers' Association at Appleton.
Appleton, Wis., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—The closing session of the Northeast Wisconsin Teachers' Association convention was held this morning at the assembly room of the Ryan high school. About 300 teachers and principals were present. The first business on the programme was the election of officers for the coming year. These were as follows: President, R. Dwight Marsh of Ripon; vice president, Supt. Leverage of Sheboygan and V. A. Strydom of Ripon; secretary, Miss Belle Collins of De Pere; treasurer, Principal E. J. Manitowoc; reporter, Principal E. J. Manitowoc; and C. Chamberlain was elected a member of the executive committee for the coming year. The session closed after a general discussion. The executive committee will announce within the next two months what place has been selected as the next place of meeting. It will probably be Ripon.

STRANGE COINCIDENCE.
Three Brothers Fatally Ill at the Same Time—One Dies and Deaths of Others Expected.
Manitowoc, Wis., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—There is a remarkable coincidence in the circumstances surrounding the fatal illnesses of brothers in the Pautz family, one of whom died within the month and another of whom is expected to pass away at any minute. Fred Pautz, a resident of this city, recently visited a brother August in Kansas for the first time in a number of years and within a few days of his arrival there August was taken ill and died. Pautz returned here to find a second brother ill, and now he, too, is expected to die. Pautz, a few months ago, was with another brother who at the time met a violent death.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.
Manager of Arpin Lumber Company's Farm Has Narrow Escape.
Apollonia, Wis., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—George Beaudou, manager of the Arpin Hardwood Lumber Company's mammoth stock farm, son of William Beaudou, the man who a short time ago was blown to atoms by a heavy charge of dynamite from this village, had a narrow escape from death by lightning yesterday. During the passing of a severe electrical storm, while hitching up one of the Arpin company's finest working teams, valued at about $450, the lightning struck, killing both horses and rendering the young man unconscious for some length of time. He will recover, providing a fever does not set in.

GIVES CHILDREN'S PART.
Upper Classwomen Have Fun with Freshmen Girls.
Madison, Wis., Oct. 25.—There was a lively time at Chadbourne hall, the girls' dormitory of the university, last night, following a supper given to the freshmen by the sophomores and upper classmen. Clad in the garb of small children, the freshmen entered the dining hall. The supper was followed by a dance in the gymnasium. Needless to say there were no men in the party.

CHYNOWETH TO BE MAJOR.
Former Military Commandant of University Will Receive Appointment.
Madison, Wis., Oct. 25.—Capt. Edward Chynoweth of the regular army has been examined for promotion to the rank of major and expects to be advanced to that rank about Christmas. He was formerly military commandant of the university and during the past two years has been the United States inspecting officer of the Wisconsin National Guard at the encampments at Camp Douglas.

popular pastor of the church during the past two years, and has done a good work in the city and county. As a token of esteem S. W. Lamoreux, in behalf of his numerous friends, made a speech and presented the couple with a bag of silver dollars. Dr. MacMurray responded in a neat little address, and then the company of friends went down to the dining room, where refreshments were served and a delightful social hour was enjoyed.

UNIVERSITY WINS CASE.
Collector of Customs at Milwaukee Instructed to Relinquish Entry of Instruments.
Washington, D. C., Oct. 24.—[Special.]—The treasury department has announced the findings of the board of appraisers in the matter of protest of regents of the University of Wisconsin against the decision of an customs collector at Milwaukee as to the amount of duties chargeable on cameras and voltmeters imported for scientific purposes. The protest of the regents is sustained and Collector Devos has been instructed to relinquish the entry of the instruments. The Milwaukee collector assessed the scientific instruments in question for duty at 45 per cent. ad valorem. The dutiable character of cameras and voltmeters has been the object of several decisions by the board of appraisers and the courts. The department formerly held that they were dutiable, as assessed by the Milwaukee collector, but this decision was overruled by the United States circuit court for the Southern district of New York and from it the government has prosecuted no appeal.

THRESHES BEFORE GOING TO PRISON.
Judge Gives Man Guilty of Manslaughter Opportunity to Provide for His Family.
Lancaster, Wis., Oct. 24.—Samuel C. Streeter will be sentenced by Judge Clementson in two weeks. He was given this time limit to provide his family for winter and to do his threshing. He pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the fourth degree. His crime was the killing of his father-in-law, D. B. Barnum, last summer. Barnum accused Streeter of stealing his oats. Streeter struck Barnum on the head with a stone. Barnum actually died of heart failure, but physicians held that the blow on the head had affected the heart, causing death.

GO IN SEARCH OF GOLD!
PARTY STARTS OUT IN SHIP BUILT AT MANITOWOC.
Charles Corrigan Tells of a Mine of Fabulous Wealth on Coast of Patagonia.
Manitowoc, Wis., Oct. 24.—[Special.]—Much interest is taken here in an expedition that left Chicago Wednesday under direction of Charles Corrigan, who is well known in the city. The two-masted schooner Mercury, in which the party of four set sail in search of a gold mine claimed by Corrigan to have been located by him ten years ago, was built here at the Burger & Burger shipyards and is fitted with an equipment of arms that makes it a miniature arsenal. Corrigan was here several weeks during the first of the year and told a romantic story of being shipwrecked on the coast of Patagonia with a companion and discovering a mine of fabulous wealth, from which they were driven by the natives. This was ten years ago and ever since he has been preparing an expedition to revisit the mine and has finally launched it. The party includes Corrigan, a navigator and two sailors.

TELLS OF A SPECTER.
Many Claimed to Have Seen Awful Apparition and that Ghost Chased Them Through Woods.
Marinette, Wis., Oct. 24.—[Special.]—Eric Spiering, a Marinette man, arrived here Thursday evening. He came from Cook Bros' camp, near Lake Noyebay, and with others left the camp because he believes it is haunted. The jobber in charge of the camp is finding it very difficult to keep full crews on account of an alleged specter that is seen in the brush and he has a head of fire. The strange apparition, it is said, has been seen frequently and two of the men came running breathlessly into the camp claiming that the man of fire had followed them. That night some of the men claimed to have seen the demoniacal face peering into the camp windows. Most of the crews have deserted and refuse to remain in the camp any longer.

COLLISION NEARLY CAUSED BY DEATH.
Brakeman Going Back to Signal Train is Killed and Engineer Does Not Get Warning.
Racine, Wis., Oct. 24.—[Special.]—T. L. Stevens, aged 24, employed as a brakeman on the North-Western road, was killed early this morning in the yards of the company in this city. He was told to run back and flag a train which was following on the same track with the "back" man, on which Stevens worked. Stevens fell between the cars near the back of the train and was cut off by the wheels. The following train nearly ran into the beer train, as it was not signaled to stop and the lights were seen barely in time to stop. The second train was brought to a stop within eight feet of the leading train. Stevens resided at 270 Hamlin street, Chicago.

MARRIES ON MOTHER'S SILVER WEDDING DAY.
Miss Augusta Boeckmann of Manitowoc Will Wed Max Woellert Next Saturday.
Manitowoc, Wis., Oct. 24.—[Special.]—On the same day that twenty-five years ago the marriage of her parents was celebrated, Miss Augusta Boeckmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Boeckmann of this city, will become the bride of Max Woellert. The event will be celebrated Saturday, and at the same time Mr. and Mrs. Boeckmann will entertain a large party in honor of their silver wedding anniversary. They will renew their marriage vows through the same ceremony that unites their daughter to the man of her choice.

HARD ON THE DOG.
Fond du Lac Sweep Said to Have Used Canine to Scratch Soot from Sides of Chimneys.
Fond du Lac, Wis., Oct. 24.—[Special.]—A legal case in which considerable interest will be taken is that of the state against P. H. Shoemaker, charged with cruelty to a dog, which will come up for trial in Justice Blewett's court next Tuesday morning.
Shoemaker was arrested charged with lowering a dog into chimneys by means of a rope, the object being to have the dog scratch the soot from the sides of the chimney. To this charge Shoemaker has pleaded not guilty.

FREEMEN ARE DIVIDED.
Struggle Between Hill Students and Engineers for Supremacy.
Madison, Wis., Oct. 24.—[Special.]—This afternoon at 5 o'clock the election meeting of the freshmen class will take place. There are two tickets in the field, one made up wholly of Hill students and the other largely constituted by engineers. The Hill candidates are: For president, Miss Oleson of Eau Claire; for secretary, Mr. Poole of Madison; for treasurer, Miss Gopen of Madison; for sergeant-at-arms, Mr. Lashaw of Wausau. The engineer candidates are not known other than their will support Compton of Madison for president.

INDIANS ADOPT PASTOR.
Chippewas Admit Rev. B. F. Lewis as Member of Tribe.
L'Anse, Wis., Oct. 24.—Rev. B. F. Lewis, the new pastor of the church at this place who arrived recently, was given a reception by the Chippewa Indians at the Indian mission, near here. On this occasion Mr. Lewis was formally adopted into the tribe, being christened by William Owen, chief of the Chippewas, "Wahsageshig," or "Bright Sky." Mrs. Lewis, who was also adopted, retained the name of "Wahsageshig Gogway," or "Bright Sky Lady."

Boom in Walnut Stumps.
Old walnut stumps are on a boom throughout Wisconsin, says the Memphis Appeal. Stumps that have remained unnoted for years and were regarded as worthless are now eagerly sought after at prices that seem almost fabulous. One Indiana concern has had men traveling over the country buying every old walnut stump that could be found. At first the prices paid were small, but as the eyes of the stick timber folks began to open the prices went higher and higher, until now they are out of sight, and the funny part about it is that the uglier, knottier and more unsightly the stump the more money it will bring. Thick stumps of a walnut tree that was cut down several years ago brought more than the whole of the tree. It is stated that the stumps are made into veneering material and used in the manufacture of high-grade furniture.

In cases where bronchitis has become chronic from want of proper treatment in the earlier stages, there is nothing so good as Dr. August Koenig's Hamburg Breast Tea, in conjunction with which is strongly advised the use of St. Jacobs Oil as an outward application along the front of the throat, from close up under the chin to well down to the top of the chest; the one remedy assists the other, and as inhaled, they work in complete unison. The penetrating power of St. Jacobs Oil enables it to reach the adhesion of foreign matter which lines the bronchial tubes and which makes breathing more and more difficult. As the adhesions become inflamed and enlarged, St. Jacobs Oil causes such adhesions to break away, making expectoration easier and more free. Dr. August Koenig's Hamburg Breast Tea, drunk slowly and very hot, soothes and heals the parts, is comforting and quieting, stops the cough and relieves the breathing. This manner of treatment (and there is no other two remedies) will work together so successfully that the difficulty from the outside and the inside at the same time. St. Jacobs Oil reaches the roots of the adhesion, and assists Dr. August Koenig's Hamburg Breast Tea in clearing them; the both remedies act in unison in healing and curing the enlarged tonsils and all bronchial affections. Every family should have St. Jacobs Oil and Dr. August Koenig's Hamburg Breast Tea may be bought in the house in order that they often the malady relapse with wonderful rapidity, and complications take place with equal suddenness.

Rapid Transit Courting.
The proud people of Neek City claim that the shortest courtship on record in Missouri took place there a few days ago. At noon H. W. Parker of Chitwood met Miss Clara Holzman. Neither had seen nor heard of the other before, but at 7:30 o'clock the same evening they were married. This beats by a half hour the record of the Carthage couple that recently got married in eight hours after their first meeting. Kansas City Journal.

Cattle Poisoned by Weeds.
Not even does the shrewd instinct of animals always prevent them from eating food which is injurious. In Montana from 50,000 to 100,000 cattle per annum are poisoned each year and die as the result of eating two poisonous weeds—wild larkspur and poison camass—while great losses are sustained each year in the Southwest country from stock eating the loco weed.

Beware of Counterfeits for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.
Mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when introduced into the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the counterfeits will do it to the good you can possibly get from them. Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Sold by Druggists, price 75c. per bottle. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Began Trapping at Eight Years, and is Now Eighty-four.

The town of Bingham is the home of Nathan B. Moore, undoubtedly the oldest guide in Maine. Mr. Moore is 84 years of age, erect of figure, and still able to stand his share of a tramp through the woods. He estimates his record of big game killed at 276 moose, 200 caribou, 100 bear and many deer. At 8 years of age he began trapping and he has followed it every season since.

"My father," he says, "was the ferry man at the time, and he gave me two small steel traps, which I set near the ferry at a point where muskrats and mink were plenty, and this my first effort met with good success. I was so small that I could not spring the trap alone, and I had to take the animal caught to my father, who removed the trigger and reset the traps. The money secured from those skins was the first I ever earned. Before long, however, I was able to look after the traps myself, and from that time on I took many fur-bearing animals each season. As I became older I had a gun and hunted small game and killed many partridges, which were eaten at our table.

"At fourteen years of age I killed my first moose, a large bull, and soon after that my career as a trapper and hunter began, and I have devoted most of my time to it since.

"When I started out in life I determined I would always tell the truth, never drink spirits or use tobacco.

"Moose and caribou were very plentiful about here in those days and I killed many of them, taking the meat down the river and selling it, often realizing $100 for a moose and nearly as much for a caribou, besides having the hides, tallow and shanks for my own use.

"I ran down the snowshoes most of the 276 moose I killed, and I think that I must have found some of the snowshoes in the woods in the number, but I never yet found one that I could not catch the first time I started him in the morning under favorable conditions, and without the help of either man or dog. Some would run, some ten, and a few twenty miles, but I was always sure of them sooner or later."—Bangor (Me.) Commercial.

On the Verge of Bright's Disease.—A Quick Cure that Lasted.

CASE NO. 30,611.—C. E. Boies, dealer in grain and feed, 505 South Water Street, Akron, O., made the following statement in 1896, he said: "Ever since the Civil War I have had attacks of kidney and bladder trouble, decidedly worse during the last two or three years. Although I consulted physicians, some of whom told me I was verging on Bright's disease, and I was continually using standard remedies, the excruciating aching just across the kidneys, which radiated to the shoulder blades, still existed. As might be expected when my kidneys were in a disturbed condition, there was a distressing and inconvenient difficulty with the action of the kidney secretions. A box of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Lamparter & Co.'s drug store, brought such a decided change within a week that I continued the treatment. The last attack, and it was particularly aggravated, disappeared."

Three Years After.

Mr. Boies says in 1899: "In the spring of 1896 I made a public statement of my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills. This remedy cured me of a terrible aching in the kidneys, in the small of my back, in the muscles of the shoulder blades, and in the limbs. During the years that have gone by I can conscientiously say there have been no recurrences of my old trouble. My confidence in Doan's Kidney Pills is stronger than ever, not only from my personal experience but from the experience of many others in Akron which have come to my notice."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Boies will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists, price 50 cents per box.

Paper as Fuel.

In these days of scarcity of fuel it may be interesting to know how one thrifty housekeeper, with more leisure than money, has warmed her house for years during the two winters or so in the fall and spring when heat is needed in the morning and evening only. She uses old newspapers and prepares them for combustion by twisting them into fagots. For the furnace she tears the paper in half, doubles each half together and twists it tightly. For the fireplace heater she separates the sheets, crumples each together and finishes by giving a slight twist, while for the small stove in her sewing room, or for a grate that is sometimes used in a north room, she merely gives the paper a close crumple. She finds it better to prepare the fuel pretty near the time of using it, as it burns better if it has not been allowed to gather dampness. This fuel is prepared at odd times, usually at dusk, by the mistress and her children, and is kept in huge bags made of casted garments, and these form measures for the amounts needed.

Deaths in France Exceed Births.

The latest statistics compiled for France are for the year 1900, and these show that for the fourth time in eleven years the number of deaths exceeded the births.

MISANTHROPY.

The squirrel climbeth up a tree And boardeth there a dairy store. And he will feast with placid glee When fruit and sunshine are no more. He doth not talk in tones of grief With friends about the price of beef.

The polar bear through arctic snow His way doth all serenely track, Because his overcoat, you know, Is growing safely on his back. He never has to fret his soul With guessing at the price of coal.

But I, a biped featherless, Must labor with these problems dire, And struggle 'gainst the weather's stress While others peacefully retire. Oh, were it not a fate more fair To be a squirrel or a bear?

—Washington Star.

THE CLUE THAT FAILED.

Deductions in the manner of Sherlock Holmes do not always work out successfully, as is shown by the following story. A group of reporters were talking together, and one of them, who liked to play the amateur detective, devoted part of his time to watching a man standing some distance away.

"That man used to be in the army," he said.

"How do you know?"

"See how he puts his hand into his trousers pocket. He lifts up the side of his coat, looks into it, and now—instead of pushing the coat back as we do. He acquired the habit from wearing a fatigue coat in the army. A fatigue coat, you know, is cut square about the body. To put the hand in the trousers pocket, one must lift up the side."

Some discussion followed, with the result that one of the reporters volunteered to lay their speculations before the stranger. He proved to be a wealthy real estate dealer. After listening to the reporter's explanation, he replied, with much amusement:

"I'll tell you why I put my hand in my pocket that way. I used to be a butcher in New York, thirty years ago, and I got that habit raising my butcher's apron to make change."

WHEN IN DOUBT, ETC.

Bishop Brewster of Connecticut tells this story illustrative of his wife's cleverness. One day they visited a mission school, and in kindly catching the children he asked:

"Who is your neighbor?"

A dead silence followed the question. Finally one little girl raised her hand and made the most unexpected and amazing reply, "God."

On the way home the bishop said to his wife:

"Now, what do you suppose that child had in mind to give such an answer?"

"I suppose," replied Mrs. Brewster, "that she was following that rule of a great many older people, 'when in doubt play trumps.'"

—New York Times.

An amusing story is told of a man condemned to death recently in France who was asked, according to custom, what he would prefer for his last meal. He chose mussels, which, though his favorite dish, always, he said, caused him a terrible indigestion. "This time, however," he added grimly, "they will not have the chance."

A WAITING WAITER.

At Montreal recently a police court magistrate asked a prisoner what he was doing at the time of his arrest.

"I was waiting," said the accused.

"Waiting for whom?" asked the magistrate.

"Just waiting," came the reply.

"What were you waiting for?"

"For my money."

"Who from?"

"The man I was waiting for."

"What did he owe it you for?"

"For waiting."

"I do not understand," said the perplexed magistrate. "Explain yourself."

"I thought," said the prisoner, "you knew I was a waiter in a restaurant."

A WEIGHTY QUESTION.

She had decided to go to a fancy-dress ball. "What shall I go as?" she queried, as she turned over a book containing illustrations of all the latest carnival costumes.

"I'm sure I don't know," he grunted.

GREW INTO A CAT.

"What became of that little kitten you had here?" asked a lady visitor of the small girl.

"Why, haven't you heard?"

"No."

"Lost?"

"No."

"Poisoned?"

"No."

"Then whatever did become of it?"

"It grew up into a cat," was her reply.—Little Chronicle.

A HIGH-BORN LADY.

This death announcement appeared in the South Australian Advertiser:—
—On the 26th June, at Black Oak Farm, Kadina, Edith, the noble wife of — and mother of four sons and one daughter. In her love took the harp of life, smote the chord of self, which passed out of sight. The angels, not so happy as us, carried her to heaven, and that is why her high-born husband came and took her away and shut her up in a sepulcher. APOSTLES OF EATING LESS.

Food Faddists Have Had a Great Year for Their Theories.

It has been a fine year for the increasing thousands who have fads about their food. The high prices of almost everything in the market have given the opportunity. The advocates of no breakfast, of meat once a day, of no meat at all, of certain kinds of vegetables, of no kinds of vegetables, of nuts only, of the absolute avoidance of nuts, of raw fruit, of fruit only when cooked, of neither coffee nor tea nor sassafras, and of all the other things, or of any part of things, or of no things at all, have come forth, not singly, but in battalions, and have told us how to live to be a hundred—if we don't die.

It would be gross ingratitude not to be thankful to these advisers. They are sincere. They want to do good. They give their time for the benefit of others. They are sad to think of ignorant thousands going to early graves on full stomachs. They raise their warning voices against feasting. People should stop eating before they get enough. The old saying about losing what is left on plates finds no echo in their doctrines. Eating for the sake of eating is a sin. Eating all the things that are offered is wickedness. So they find something bad in every number of the bill of fare—from typhoid fever in raw oysters to dyspepsia and sleepless nights in pie.

They have a right to their convictions. A man down in Virginia went without food for thirty days this year. But like as not they doubled the price of his food for the next month. People use the starvation plan for many ailments. Many of them go to health resorts and pay $50 to the hotel doctor, who strikes off from the bill of fare all the good things they would like to eat. The hotels get their savings, the doctor gets his big fees and they get—hungry. But most of the faddists have their imaginations in their culinary departments, and it is not reasonable of them to expect the robust members of society to follow their examples. It may be wrong, but the average American wants breakfast. It may hurt him, but he will have meat. He may be jeopardizing his very soul, but he likes to play with the menu all the way from soup to satisfaction. And somehow it agrees with him. Look at the other nations. We don't know of any that beat him when the food or the fuel within him works its way to results in the progress and civilization of mankind.—Saturday Evening Post.

Helped Everybody.

Gainesville, Texas, Oct. 27.—Mrs. L. E. Burton, formerly of Eureka, Kan., has been at 507 Gladstone street, this city, for some time. While here Mrs. Burton has been the means of doing much good by introducing to her sick friends a remedy which it seems is very popular in Kansas, but which has not been very much heard of in this neighborhood. It is called Dodd's Kidney Pills and in every case where it has been used it has produced wonderful results.

Mrs. Burton has good reason to speak well of Dodd's Kidney Pills, for they have done much for her and her family. She says: "I must tell everybody what Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for me and for as many of my friends as have used them."

"I had a very bad case of Kidney Trouble, for which I had been doctoring for a long time without benefit. I saw Dodd's Kidney Pills recommended. I tried them and was completely cured. My mother and my brother were ill and they took them and were soon well again."

"Dodd's Kidney Pills have done much for us."

GOVERNOR OF OREGON Uses Pe-ru-na in His Family and Grip.

CAPITOL BUILDING, SALEM, OREGON.

A Letter From the Executive Office of Oregon.

Pe-ru-na is known from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Letters of congratulation and commendation testifying to the merits of Pe-ru-na as a cathartic remedy are pouring in from every State in the Union. Dr. Hartman is receiving hundreds of such letters daily. All classes write these letters, from the highest to the lowest.

The outdoor laborer, the indoor artisan, the clerk, the editor, the statesman, the preacher—all agree that Pe-ru-na is the cathartic remedy of the age. The stage and rostrum, recognizing cathartics as their greatest enemy, are especially enthusiastic in their praise and testimony.

Any man who wishes perfect health must be entirely free from cathartics. Cathartics are well-nigh universal; almost omnipresent. Pe-ru-na is the only absolute safeguard known. A cold is the beginning of cathartics. To prevent colds, to cure colds, is to cheat cathartics out of its victims. Pe-ru-na not only cures cathartics, but prevents. Every household should be supplied with this great remedy for colds, coughs, and so forth.

The Governor of Oregon is an ardent admirer of Pe-ru-na. He keeps it constantly in the house. In a recent letter to Dr. Hartman he says:

STATE OF OREGON, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, SALEM, May 9, 1898.

The Pe-ru-na Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio:

Dear Sirs—I have had occasion to use your Pe-ru-na medicine in my family for colds, and it proved to be an excellent remedy. I have not had occasion to use it for other ailments.

Yours very truly, W. M. Lord.

It will be noticed that the Governor says he has not had occasion to use Pe-ru-na for other ailments. The reason for this is, most other ailments begin with a cold. Using Pe-ru-na to promptly cure colds, he protects his family against other ailments. This is exactly what every other family in the United States should do. Keep Pe-ru-na in the house. Use it for colds, coughs, la grippe, and other climatic affections of winter, and there will be no other ailments in the house. Such families should provide themselves with a copy of Dr. Hartman's free book, entitled "Winter Cathartics." Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio.

Michael Vincent, the democratic nominee for sheriff, is probably one of the best known men in the county today. His fitness for the office of sheriff is admitted by all who know him and who were thrown in contact with him while he was in the office. He has a natural faculty for ferreting out crime and tracing criminals, and as a consequence he has been called on several times when not in office to assist the officers in this work. His ability in this line is what made him such an efficient officer, and when once he got on the track of a criminal the guilty party knew no peace until he was captured.

At a speech Governor LaFollette was making at Oconto on Monday a man in the audience tried to question him again on how he stood on the matter of Senator Spooner, but the governor was hurried from the stage before he could answer the questions. As a consequence of the attitude the governor has taken on this matter several speakers who were billed for speeches in that county have cancelled their engagements and stated that they will have nothing further to do with the campaign.

Governor LaFollette stated in Appleton on Saturday that he would support Spooner when Spooner came out and endorsed the republican state platform. This is rather rubbing it in on the worthy senator. He had evidently buried the hatchet and was willing to let on he had swallowed the platform, even if he hadn't, and the governor should have governed himself accordingly. It is quite evident, however, that there is only one way of doing things in the governor's opinion, and that is LaFollette's way.

LaFollette promises that if the republicans are elected there will be a reform in the trusts, tariff and taxes. That is just what the republicans have been yelling for the past ten years and notwithstanding the fact that they have been in power there has been no reform excepting those that have benefited the trusts and money men in general.

It is evident from the attitude that Governor LaFollette has taken toward Senator Spooner that he intends to make that gentleman come to time if he wants to ride on the same band wagon with the governor. Of course the governor is doing all these things for the good of the party, the LaFollette branch of it especially.

Husband and Wife Disagree.

Husband and wife often disagree about some matter that concerns each other and frequently the husband finds that his wife's judgment is the best, the case of Mr. John W. Young of Lincoln, Ill., is however an exception, he says: "My wife and I both had a severe cold and we decided to get some kind of medicine. I bought for myself a bottle of Harts' Honey and Horehound and taking it as directed was well in a short time. She wanted another kind and with the result that she still has a bad cough. I advised her to take Harts' Honey and Horehound and think she will have to do so if she gets well this winter." Sold by Sam Church druggist.

His Life in Peril.

"I just seemed to have gone all to pieces," writes Alfred Bee, of Welfare, Tex., "biliousness and a lame back had made life a burden. I couldn't eat or sleep and felt almost too worn out to work when I began to use Electric Bitters, but they worked wonders. Now I sleep like a top, can eat anything, have gained in strength and enjoy hard work." They give vigorous health and new life to weak, sickly, run-down people. Try them. Only $1.00 at John E. Daly's drug store.

TOPICS OF INTEREST.

Listen my friends, and I will relate. The political tale of the Budget state, And events which have come to pass of late, All fraught with things of interest.

Governor LaFollette, called "Little Bob," Found his position a paying job; He had a few things to conceal from the mob, And those are items of interest.

There was the double taxation bill, Of which the people had their fill, And owed the Governor no good-will, That is item "One" of interest.

There was a charge at LaFollette's door, That his expense was a million more, Than the administration had cost before; List: This an item of interest.

There was the "school scandal,"—as you well know, LaFollette received Two Thousand or so, On the condition that Harvey must go; But that was the Governor's interest.

There's "Vessel Taxation" and "Railroad Rate" They do not form a tempting bait; The very words the man must hate, For they are not to the Governor's interest.

This man, who has not ruled "true blue," Cleft the republicans clean in two, The "Stalwarts" and the "Halfbreeds" grew; And this was not to his interest.

Yet he is the republican candidate, Who does his energies concentrate, In making promises (now too late) Intending to stir up interest.

Voters, your taxes he has not relieved, And tho' LaFollette you once believed, Don't trust the man who has oft deceived, He's not working for your interests.

His unkept pledges are plain to see; Don't sell your vote for a promise fee, Tho' a game warden you may be, It should be to the Governor's interest.

Now this is the Land of Liberty, From oppression the people must be free, Add the mortgaged land owner shall not be Burdened with heavy interest.

And the democrat party is not dead, It has taken a notion into its head, That wholesale bribery shall not spread, And they bring forth things of interest.

It does not like "Boss" LaFollette's bill, The "Primary Election Law" sounds ill To right minded men, who never will Sacrifice the people's interests.

Now the nominee is David S. Rose, A popular man, as everyone knows, Who in the people's favor daily grows, And he is the item of interest.

This candidate is a flower in name, Both just and great, I sing his fame; And as your governor would be the same, For he will look to your interests.

David S. Rose is the poor man's friend; To economy his aid will lend And about their business game warden send, For they cost both capital and interest.

For good sound principle he makes a run, Favoring corporations shall not be done; Equal taxation for every one, For that's to the people's interests.

Of the largest city in our state He is the mayor, and to this date Prosperity and economy are concentrate, Pray investigate, 'twill be of interest.

LaFollette his sacred trust did betray, The republican party sorely day, Behold! Their idol was made of clay, For he had individual interests.

This self same little man has his price, Five hundred dollars did not suffice, But of higher bids—Ah! He thinks twice, For his pocketbook is of interest.

The state capitol has increased its employes, There's oil inspectors, sub-treasury agencies, Supervisors—of assessments and factories, Even "squirrel feeders" are of interest.

Now I agree with good Neal Brown, It's a fine thing Kronshage is around, To bear the blame some one is found, Lo! This LaFollette's interest.

As the Governor travels on his campaign, There's many items he don't explain; But the voter remembers just the same, And he wants to reckon with interest.

Ponder awhile on these facts my friends, This time that some things had an end, And to this cause your good voice lend, You will find it to your interest.

Now election day is drawing near, Last election's choice cost our state dear, Give the democrats a new year, And things will happen of interest.

—Laura Mae Whitrock.

EDWARD LYNCH.

The democrats of this senatorial district made a happy choice when they nominated Edward Lynch for state senator. No man they could have put up is better fitted for the office and it is admitted by all that he has as many friends as any man in Wood county. Mr. Lynch was born in Lowell, Mass., in 1853, and came to this city with his mother when he was about a year and a half old, and has resided here almost continuously ever since. He received his education in this city and subsequently went to teaching school. He followed this vocation for eleven years when he was elected superintendent of schools which position he held for nine years. After this he engaged in lumbering and has been interested in this branch of industry in one way and another up to the present day. During the many years that Mr. Lynch has been a resident of our city and county he has made warm and true friends in both of the political parties, and since his nomination these men have come forward without exception and voluntarily expressed their determination to support him for the office to which he was nominated, and there is no doubt in anybody's mind that Mr. Lynch will carry his own county with a comfortable majority, and there are other parts of the district where he has received promises from men who can be depended upon to keep their word. If you vote for Mr. Lynch for state senator you may depend on it that you are casting your ballot for a man who will do his best to represent the people and not the corporations, as has been the case in the past.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Miss Stearns of the Wisconsin Library Commission gave the school a very instructive talk Monday morning. She gave a short synopsis of the evolution of books, going back 2,000 years before the Book of Genesis when there were brick libraries, and taking them through the different stages of papyrus, parchment, and paper. She also told us how printing has developed, beginning way back there in uneducated China to the present mode of printing. Miss Stearns said that after 500 years, that the newspapers of today would be crumbled back to dust, and although it would be a good thing for our yellow journalism, it would be a pity to have our good literature turn to dust also. She said that out of the 3,000 books published last year in America only three would live in the future. "Up from Slavery," "Making of an American" and "John Richard Green Life and Letters." In closing she advised us to make the best use of our library and reading, choosing always the books which are most helpful to us, and will increase our knowledge.

Wednesday morning Rev. W. A. Peterson addressed the school. He told us plainly that we did not know how to study. He also said that the secret of studying aright lay in focusing the mind, and then with great concentration we could accomplish our lessons in a shorter time.

Mr. Youker read another chapter from Charles Dudley Warner's "Being a Boy," yesterday for morning exercises.

Dr. Witter of California, formerly a resident of Grand Rapids, and Rev. Shaw were high school visitors Monday.

All pupils who failed in their examination in any branch were examined on Saturday morning.

Mr. Morterud has presented the school with a nearly framed picture of the graduating class of '02.

Last Tuesday morning for opening exercises several problems in mental arithmetic were given.

The report cards were given out last week, recorded with the standings for the first semi term.

Last Friday morning the Physiology class had a test on Habit.

The Seniors had a test last Tuesday in American History.

Concerning Telephone Rates.

The Wisconsin Telephone company will shortly, for the reasons stated, either terminate the one-minute toll period, or readjust the tariff for such period at a rate that will save further losses. Three years since, when the Erie company came into possession of the Wisconsin territory, the one-minute rate was introduced, and fixed at one-third of the then existing three-minute rate, that company believing that a large volume of business could be procured and handled profitably on this basis.

The toll lines of the company, at best, are used only during the busiest hours of the day. Ninety per cent of this business is for the short distance (under forty-five cents for three minutes) and the revenue from this service has fallen off sixty-six per cent. The time of all concerned, and the use of the lines necessary to getting the parties together, for which no charge is made, is very much greater than the revenue earning period, and as it costs no less to set the machinery in motion for one than for the three-minute conversation, no reduction whatever has been effected in the cost of operation.

There is some demand for one-minute business, and this demand will be met; but it will not be continued on a basis which those still in the management pronounced at the time illogical and disastrous.

The toll tariff for the state will be readjusted on the basis of two minutes as the little period, instead of three minutes as heretofore. These rates will appear in the October issue of the Milwaukee Directory. It is possible at this time to give the tariff for one-minute period, but this information may be had at the several headquarters of the company.

It is proposed by a company of physicians in the state to establish a "Health Park" in Wisconsin, for the relief and improvement of persons suffering with incipient cases of tuberculosis, and other diseases. It is considered practically certain that if given outdoor treatment and proper medical attention, such cases can be cured. The association is established along the line of the Boston Invalid Aid society, which has accomplished a wonderful work in the east. The enterprise has the support of the state Board of Health. The location of the park will probably be in a 240 acre pine timber area near Tomahawk. It will not be a charitable institution although poverty is no barrier to the enjoyment of its benefits.

It develops that the Madison literary bureau of the governor is addressing itself to "fair-minded" democrats with a view to posing the governor as a democrat, in the expectation of getting enough democrats to vote the republican ticket to insure the election of the apostle of "reform." Two years ago Gov. LaFollette was not looking for democratic votes. Then he was violently opposed to "Ervanism," but now he tries to make it appear that he is in thorough accord with the great Nebraskan. It's anything with LaFollette to get votes, but he greatly underestimates the intelligence of Wisconsin democrats when he assumes to catch them with that sort of chaff.—Ex.

That special train is still bothering the "reformers." They are quite sure that the democratic party is in league with the railways because the democratic candidate is following the example set by LaFollette two years ago in taking advantage of special train service. Of course there was nothing wrong in the apostle of "reform" traveling by special train, but it is nothing less than damnable corruption for the democratic candidate to do likewise.—Wausau Herald.

"THE PRICE TELLS THE QUALITY."

COLD WEATHER IS COMING.

Let us fit you out from our mammoth stock of merchandise, the largest in Wood county, and the most economical to buy from. Never before have we had such a lot of nice things to select from, and we are pleased at all times to have you come into our store and see what we have to offer. We have not time to write exhaustive ads and give the prices on everything, as the description of one-half we have would more than fill an ordinary newspaper.

MONTE CARLO COATS.

These are for the ladies and we are proud of the stock we have in this line. If you need anything in this line come in and we will fit you out and do it in a manner that will send you away happy. We are selling a lot of them and we have never heard a complaint.

QUEEN QUALITY SHOES.

Don't imagine that you have seen the acme of shoe production until you have seen the styles that are turned out by the manufacturers of the Queen Quality. They are perfection itself and the price is within the reach of all. They are made in every possible style that is up to date and we know that if you see them you see them you will want them.

Did You Say Clothing?

We have it. All kinds of clothing. Clothing for Men and Children. This is one of our specialties. You do not have to wait for a bargain from us on clothing. We sell as much every day as the stores are holding a sale and as a consequence we are enabled to give you the best. We can fit you out from top to toe.

100 FUR COATS.

Just what you will soon be needing. These fur coats were bought before the raise and as a consequence we can give you a price on this sort of a garment that will surprise you. Come and look them over.

$2000 Worth of Furs.

This is the size of our stock just now in this line. We do not have to misrepresent things when we tell you that we have the largest selection in the city. We want to show you what we have and are ready to do so at all times. We can generally please the ladies in this city.

TRIES TO FOOL VOTERS.

Cady's Figures Are Shown to Be False.

To the voters of Wood county: In reading Candidate Cady's printed speech delivered at Pittsville at the beginning of this campaign, I find on pages from 11 to 16 an exhaustive treatise on the benefits of the Mill School tax to the people of Wood county, and an array of figures to substantiate his statements. Now this all looks very nice. The additions and subtractions are all accurate and I, like others, would have passed it by, thinking it a correct statement, if I had not been attracted by a sentence of page 15 which reads: "Now, the foregoing table of figures is the plain truth and I challenge any one to refute them."

Now, knowing Mr. Cady pretty well

fied teacher. This income is still received by the districts and the proceeds from the 1 mill tax is simply added to it.

This school fund from which the income is derived is as old as the state, having been provided for by the Constitution; and will continue in all probability as long as Wisconsin continues as a state.

Section 2, of Article X of the Constitution of Wisconsin reads as follows: "The proceeds of all lands, that have been or may be granted by the United States to this state for educational purposes (except the lands heretofore granted for the purposes of a University) and all moneys, and the clear proceeds of all property that may accrue to the state by forfeiture or escheat, and all moneys which may be paid as an equivalent for exemption from military duty; and the clear proceeds of all fines collected in the several and knowing that it is usual for a falsifier to be very loud in asserting the truthfulness of his statements when he is trying to cover something up, I became suspicious at once that something was under cover and proceeded to investigate the matter as I was somewhat fitted to do from the fact that I have had something to do with school matters in the past.

Now for the refutation. The one mill school tax law was passed by the Legislature of 1885. People past middle age will remember that before 1885 we had an income from the school fund which was annually apportioned to all school districts according to the number of children between the ages of 4 and 20, when the district had met the requirements of the law by having maintained a school a certain length of time, taught by duly quali-

counties, for any breach of the penal laws, and all moneys arising from any grant to the state where the purposes of said grant are not specified, and the five hundred thousand acres of land, to which the state is entitled by the provisions of an Act of Congress entitled "An act to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of public lands, and to grant pre-emption rights" approves the fourth day of September, one thousand eight hundred and forty-one; and also the five per centum of the net proceeds of the public lands, to which the state shall become entitled on her admission into the union (if Congress shall consent to such appropriation of the two grants mentioned) shall be set apart as a separate fund, to be called "The School fund," the interest of which and all other revenues derived from the

THEY ARE ALL WORTHY OF YOUR SUPPORT

Each One a Man Thoroughly Competent to Fill the Offices which the People Have Asked them to Accept.

We present our readers this week with pictures of the men who have been chosen by the democrats to occupy the county offices during the next two years. That they are all good men nobody questions for a moment, and there is no reason why they should not receive the hearty support of the people at large who desire to see the county offices delivered into hands that they may feel certain will perform the duty that has been assigned to them.

There is not a man on the ticket who is not a gentleman in every respect and whom the people cannot feel proud of if he is elected to fill the office to which he has been nominated. Nearly all of them are men who have been honored with honorary offices by their home people, and so well have they performed the duties that have been thrust upon them and for which they received no compensation, that their neighbors have seen fit to offer them a county office and many of them have warm friends on both sides who have openly expressed the determination to see them elected. There is not a professional office seeker in the crowd, but all have other business, and have accepted the nominations at the solicitation of their friends.

These are the kind of men to put into office. They meet you just the same when there is no election in the air as when there is, and they recognize their acquaintances at all times of the year. Cast a ballot for the democratic nominees and you will be doing the best in your power to give the county a nice clean administration during the next two years.

school lands, shall be exclusively applied to the following objects, to wit: 1. To the support and maintenance of common schools, in each school district, and the purchase of suitable libraries and apparatus therefor."

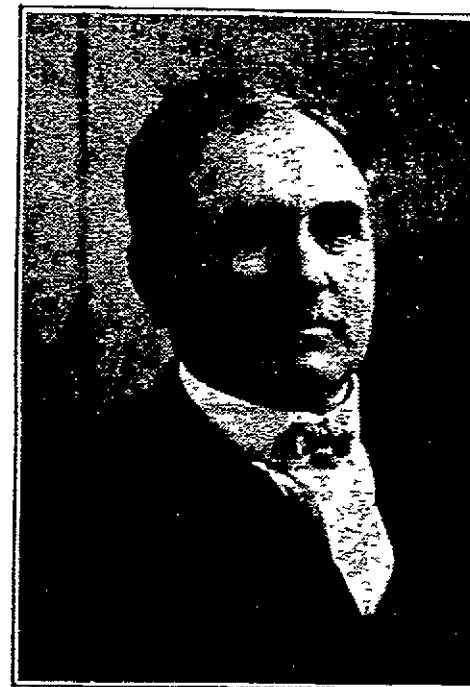

You see it is only the interest on this fund that can be apportioned to the districts; the principal remaining untouched. The school districts, I believe, are the greatest borrowers from this fund. Any district desiring to build a school house can get a loan. Now do you not think that Mr. Cady being a lawyer, knew all this? Why did he not have the fairness to tell you the exact truth? It may be due to the fact that he thought if he made his statements emphatic enough, you would not hunt it up. In other words he "took a chance."

In a letter that I received from the state superintendent, dated October

dent's statements you will see that this $2,612.00 was received from "Sources other than the 1 Mill Tax," and which Wood county would have received if there had been no 1 mill tax.

Mr. Cady in order to be "Frank" as his name would imply, will now find it necessary for him to revise all that great array of figures on pages 14 and 15 of his pamphlet where he shows the benefits to each town. I would also suggest to him to revise his figures in the eleventh line of page 16 where he gives the exact benefit to Wood county of the one mill tax.

In regard to my position on this 1 mill tax law I will say that I was superintendent of schools of this county when the law was passed, and was in favor of the law then, as was Thomas E. Nash, who was member of assembly at that time. I was in favor

Democratic Candidate for State Senator.

24th, 1902, in reply to inquiries I made I find that Mr. Cady's figures are exact as to the amount of school money received by the county from the state in 1901; also his figures are exact as to the amount of the 1 mill school tax Wood county paid to the state for the same year. But the state superintendent further says, "the number of persons of school age in the county reported was 10,448. The income from sources other than the one mill tax was slightly over $25 per capita. With this statement you will be able to determine the amount received from the 1 mill tax only, if you care to do so."

Now with a little figuring you see that 10,448 times $25 amounts to $2,612.00, and by the state superintendent of it during my six years incumbency of the office of superintendent after the law was passed and am in favor of the law now and will be as long as Wood county gets benefits from it. The only thing that I fear, (after the airing the law has had in this campaign) is that no matter which party is successful at the election, those Southern counties that have been getting the worst end of the deal, will come before the next legislature and demand the repeal of the law upon the ground that both parties have proclaimed for "Just and equal taxation."

Yours very respectfully,

EDWARD LYNCH.

Human Flesh and Horse Flesh.

In many essentials all flesh is much alike. A remedy that will cure all manner of pains, sprains, strains, burns, scalds, cuts, bruises, chaps, scratches, galls, chafes, sores, lameness, wounds, inflammations and swellings occurring in human flesh, is of equal value for like ailments of the flesh of beasts and is useful in the household for the hurts of childhood and the accidents and ills of every day life as it is in the stable, the gymnasium or the training quarters.

Such a remedy is Greene's Infalible Liniment which is endorsed by the heads of families, breeders, drivers, pugilists, trainers, bicyclists, athletes, everybody, everywhere, who has used it. In proof of this claim attention is invited to the following testimonials from:

Bob Fitzsimmons, Pugilist.
Harry Gilmore, Boxing Instructor.
W. A. Pinkerton, Pinkerton Detective Agency.
Thos. Earle, Supt. P. & N. Stables.
Fred Sullivan, Trainer, M. H. Tichenor & Co.
C. R. Tipton, Horse Breeder, Cadiz, O.
"The rub-out is great stuff. I like it better than anything I ever used." Bob Fitzsimmons.
"Greene's Liniment is in use among my pupils and they agree with me as to its merits. I have no hesitancy in recommending it to athletes and trainers in general." Harry Gilmore.
"I have used Greene's Liniment for some time on my driving horses and saddle horses at home, of which I have eight, and I have also used it with great success on running horses owned by me, particularly, however, on Audie Denney, and I have found it of great service. I have a high opinion of your goods and shall never be without same in my stables." Wm. A. Pinkerton.
"I have tried Greene's Liniment and find it the best I ever used." Thos. Earle.
"It's the best thing I ever used." F. Sullivan.
"I feel that too much cannot be said in commendation of its merits." G. R. Tipton.

These testimonials are published to induce readers to try this truly Infalible Liniment, then of themselves they will know of its merits. Greene's Infalible Liniment, sells at 25c. per bottle and a bottle at drug stores and by the mail, J. E. Daly, Grand Rapids, Mich., 17 Van Buren St., Chicago, Ill. If your druggist is not in stock, write to J. E. Daly, Grand Rapids, Mich., and he will get it for you. Accept no substitutes. There is a rubber liniment that is sold in this city and does its work, no other kind is like it or as good. The makers to prove this, will give you a bottle if a sample is returned for the address stated and the bottle cover of the bottle.

From Well Known Publisher
Our readers will be interested in the statement of Mr. John Edmunds Editor of the Daily and Weekly Courier at Lincoln, Ill. He says: I have long been a sufferer from constitutional constipation and have used Re-Go Tonic Laxative Syrup. I found it an agreeable medicine and just the thing for men engaged in sedentary pursuits. I take pleasure in recommending Re-Go Tonic Laxative Syrup as safe and effective, without any griping and nauseating effects common to similar remedies. Sold by Sam Church Druggist.

Bad-Named Village.
On the western slope of the Berkshire hills is a small village which is literally painted red once in every ten or twelve years. Twenty-five years before the battle of Lexington Sylvanus Cunningham, a peddler of notions, passed through the settlement. His cart was upset and all his wares thrown out in the road. The villagers rushed to his aid, but when he took a hasty inventory of his stock he declared that much was missing, and furthermore denounced the place, and said it should thenceforth be known as "Pillshire." And thus it was known until 1825, when the village fathers called a meeting to take steps toward throwing off the ignominious name. As a substitute some one mentioned "Red Rock." This was met by the objection that there were no red rocks in the vicinity. Whereupon a shrewd old man suggested that they could plant one. So a great rock by the roadside was given a coat of deep, rich red, and since that time "painting day," which occurs about every dozen years, has been one of the great celebrations in Red Rock's history. It was last painted in the summer of 1899, so that it is comparatively fresh, and the rock itself is not a particle more eternal than the satisfaction of the villagers.—Ladies' Home Journal.

The Wire for the Russian Tongue.
Discussions and stories of a linguistic character have a peculiar charm for Opie Reed, says the Philadelphia Press. Recently he was surrounded by a group of newspaper men. One of these confessed that he had lately taken up the study of the Russian tongue, with very discouraging results, considering the fact that French, Spanish and Italian had been comparatively easy for him. "Oh, that's not strange," consolingly remarked the story writer, "the Chicago Telephone company had a worse experience than that with the terrors of the Slax tongue. A druggist in the heart of the Russian colony recently had a telephone instrument installed in his place for the accommodation of his patrons. The minute the first user of the telephone began to talk Russian into the receiver the wire kinked into small knots like a tensely twisted string. They couldn't do a thing to meet the emergency until one of the telephone linemen who had once attempted to do missionary work in a Russian settlement in Minnesota replaced the smooth insulated copper strand with the ordinary barb wire. That jagged medium proved a perfect means of transmission for Russian speech."

An Aforetime Anarchist.
"Very few anarchists ever become prosperous and contented citizens," says a detective. "They have been some instances, though. I have in mind one man who fifteen years ago was very prominent in anarchistic circles here. He even published a little paper in the interest of anarchy. The sheet was so rabid that after the Haymarket riots it was suppressed. This man was an expert chemist, and his fame had followed him from Germany, from which country he had been exiled. He was offered employment at a salary of $60 a week—more money than he had ever dreamed of making. He was frugal in his habits and soon acquired a snug bank account. With approaching affluence he turned his back upon his old associates, and eventually married an American woman. To-day his name is but a memory among the anarchists."—Philadelphia Record.

Largest Tableland in the World.
The bulk of Tibet is the Chang, or Great Tibetan plateau, the highest as well as the largest tableland on the earth, says a St. Petersburg correspondent. An idea of its elevation may best be obtained from the statement of Captain Hamilton Bower, one of the most highly regarded of recent authorities: "From the end of June until the middle of November the average altitudes of our camps was over 16,000 feet, the lowest being 14,621 and the highest 18,760 feet." During the period already referred to the enormous stretch of country crossed by Captain Bower's party did not show a single tree and only two species of shrub, "and these rarely exceeded six inches in height."

Summer Rainfall in Ireland.
The dryness of the summer of 1901 in Ireland may be judged from the rainfall record taken in the south of the island. From the 15th of April to the 5th of August the recorded rainfall only amounted to 5.63 inches. This is 3.65 inches under the average fall for the corresponding period of the last eleven years. The total rainfall in the same period last year was 16.16 inches, while the days of absolute drought were 51 in 1900 as against 73 this year.

Japan and the English Language.
The Japanese government has decided that in the future all its communications with foreign powers shall be made in the English language. The Japanese recognize two things in doing this: First, that as the bulk of their trade is carried on with England and the United States, those countries enjoy most of Japan's foreign intercourse, and, second, that the English language has become the dominant language of commerce, literature and science and must eventually be practically the universal language.

Prayers to Avert British Taxation.
Malta is offering up prayers in the churches to avert the threatened increase of taxation by the British government. The feeling of the people against the substitution of English for Italian as the official language is very bitter.

Population of Rhodesia.
A return issued by the Statistical Department of Rhodesia shows that the total population of the southern portion of the colony is 15,553, of whom 11,443 are males and only 4,110 females. Europeans number 11,032 (2,922 females), colonial natives, 3,728, and Asiatics 1,093. The figures for the two provinces are—Mashonaland, 5,037; Matabeleland, 10,516.

A Communication.
—Mr. Editor—Allow me to speak a few words of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I suffered for three years with the bronchitis and could not sleep at nights. I tried several doctors and various patent medicines, but could get nothing to give me any relief until my wife got a bottle of this valuable medicine, which has completely relieved me. —W. S. Brock-Bangnell, M.D. This remedy is for sale by Johnson & Hill and Co. and Wood County Drug Co.

Educational Buildings for Teachers.
At Peoria, Ill. the teachers have a beautiful educational building after the Buffalo plan, and the Logan county, Ohio, teachers have a delightful county educational hall at Bellefontaine. All along the line teachers ought to be providing themselves with places of meeting of their own.—Journal of Education.

Longer, but Not Higher.
Napoleon was searching one day for a book in the library of Malmaison and at last discovered it on a shelf somewhat above his reach. Marshal Moncey, who was present, one of the tallest men in the army, stepped forward, saying, "Permit me, sire; I am higher than your majesty." "You are longer, marshal," said the emperor with a frown.

Sultan's Judgment at Faint.
The Sultan of Morocco did not show much judgment in the choice of a present for Emperor William. It consisted of ten horses of a delicate breed. It was soon found that they could not stand the Berlin climate. One had to be shot, while the others were given by the Emperor to friends, with the proviso that they must not be sold or given away.

Talking Dinners to Death.
A point to be remembered when dining in company is not to engross one's neighbor by conversation, however entertaining, so that he is unable to satisfy his appetite or appreciate the good things his hostess has provided.

Where England Gets Its Cheese.
Of the imported cheese consumed in England last year, Canada contributed 56 per cent, the United States 25 per cent and Holland 12 per cent.

A Word to Travelers.
The excitement incident to traveling and change of food and water often brings on diarrhoea, and for this reason no one should leave home without a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by Johnson & Hill Co. and Wood County Drug Co.
